DRYEST WEATHER PAST 12 MONTHS FOR FIFTY YEARS

All Weather Bureau Records for This Territory Are Smashed.

ALMOST FIFTY PER CENT BELOW NORMAL RAINFALL

Director Von Herrmann Cannot Account for Deficiency Which Continues to Grow, Inasmuch as There Have Been No Extended Periods Without Showers, at Least.

This section has just passed through the dryest period in the history of the weather service, according to figures compiled by Observer von Herrmann.

For the purposes of comparison, Mr. von Herrmann has taken two periods during the past twelve months, and the figures for those show the most remarkable dry spots within fifty years.

The first was from January 1, of this year, up to and including September 25. The normal rainfall for that period would have been 38.57 inches. However, there was only 24.29 inches of rainfall, or a deficiency of 14.28.

The second period was from July, 1910, to June, 1911, covering twelve months.

From July, 1910, though the month of December, the total rainfall was 12.73 inches, or a deficiency of 10.29. From January to June 31, the rainfall was 15.38 inches, or 10.96 below the normal.

The total rainfall for the period of twelve months was 28.11 inches, showing a deficiency of 21.25, which amounts approximately to 43 per cent of the annual normal rainfall, the normal for twelve months being 49.36 inches.

"This is the most remarkable period of dry weather in the history of the service," said Mr. von Herrmann.

Record Approached Only Once Before.

"The only time the record has ever been approached was during the period of twelve months from July, 1886, to June, 1887, when there was a total rainfall of 28.56 inches, or 0.45 inches more rain than fell during the period from July 1, 1910 to June 30, 1911.

"During this period of dry weather through which we have just passed there were only fifteen consecutive days without rain, which was from June 1 to June 15. The longest period of consecutive days without rain was from September 13, 1884, to October 21, 1884, or a period of thirty-nine days."

The following figures compiled by Mr. von Herrmann show the amount of rainfall and the deficiency or excess for each month from July, 1910, to June, 1911:

July, rainfall 3:25 inches, deficiency 1.48; August, rainfall 2.49, deficiency 1.99; September, rainfall 0.73, deficiency 2.80; October, rainfall 2.90, excess 0.56; November, rainfall 0.57, deficiency 2.83; December, rainfall 2.79, deficiency 1.75; January, rainfall 2.09, deficiency 3.22; February, rainfall 3.40, deficiency 1.25; March, rainfall 2.04, deficiency 3.74; April, rainfall 4.62, excess 0.99; May, rainfall 2.14, deficiency 0.95; June, rainfall 1.09, deficiency 2.79.

It will be noted that in only two of those months, October and April, was there an excess of rainfall above the normal, and then not quite an inch, while in the other ten months there was a deficiency in the rainfall ranging anywhere from an inch to nearly four inches.

The Lord Alone Knows the Cause.

"What do you figure as the reason for this remarkable deficiency in the rainfall?" Mr. von Herrman was asked.

"The Lord knows; I don't," replied the weatherman. "If we knew what caused it we might be able to remedy it. All we can say is that it just happened, and that's all we know about it."

Mr. von Herrmann is of the opinion that all crops except cotton were seriously damaged by the dry weather.

"At the time we had the dryest weather, Ma yand June," said he, "cotton was just at the stage where it could stand it, and really profited by it. Other crops, however, and especially truck farms, were damaged to a great extent.

"It is frequently the case that a period of drouth, entire absence of rain, is preceded and followed by very light precipitation, having hardly an appreciable influence on vegetation, and the duration of drouth may correctly be extended to include dates with small amounts of precipitation if in the aggregate they do not exceed, say, ½ an inch. The following are a few of the most remarkable records in Atlanta:

"1904—September 5 to November 1, 58 days; 1 day with 0.10 inch.

"1884—August 10 to October 21, 73 days; 9 days with a total fall of 0.28 inch.

"1886—September 13 to November 11, 60 days; 7 days with a total fall of 0.43 inch.

"1891—September 14 to November 9, 57 days; 6 days with a total fall of 0.18 inch.

"1897—August 31 to October 10, 41 days; 2 days with a total fall of 0.14 inch."

Since the present year is already 14.28 inches of rain shy, the elements will have to do considerable stirring around between now and the first of the year if the record for dry weather is not broken more than ever. Last year there was a deficiency of 12.24 inches in the fainfall, but this year bids fair to go it several inches better in the line of deficiency.

The weather bureau at Washington is out with the forecast that in the United States the coming week will be one of unsettled weather, and well-distributed rains over the greater part of the country; but Mr. von Herrmann doesn't expect the rainfall during that period to raise the average a considerable amount.

ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING CLOSES CHARTER CAMPAIGN; 2,000 PEOPLE CHEER SPEAKERS AT GRAND THEATER

A part of the great crowd gathered at the Grand Theater last ni ght to hear the speeches delivered by leaders of the movement to substitute new charter for Atlanta's present form of government.

E. V. Carter Urges All Voters to Cast Ballots for Change in Form of Government.

HALF MILLION A YEAR WILL BE SAVED ATLANTA SAYS CHARLES HOPKINS

Chairman Carter Calls Attention to the "John S. Candler" School and the "John S. Candler" Auto Hook and Truck Wagon—Hopkins Charges Carlos Mason With Trying to Defeat Charter by Giving Wine Supper to Legislators. Able Speech by Kilpatrick.

The final rally of the campaign in behalf of the new charter attracted fully 2,000 Atlantans—men and women—to the Grand opera house last night. They followed with close and absorbed attention the addresses of the three speakers of the evening.

About fifty representative Atlantans occupied seats on the stage. All the boxes were occupied and the first balcony was filled. All the seats on the lower floor were filled and many people were standing. The interest displayed testified to the feelings of the people in regard to the proposed change in their municipal government.

Chairman E. V. Carter, of the new charter campaign committee, presided and introduced the other two speakers of the evening, Charles F. Hopkins and J. D. Kilpatrick. Mr. Carter urged all present to go to the polls today and provide Atlanta with a system of popular government by which the will of the people could be put into effect and the greatest efficiency secured in administraton.

In the course of his remarks Mr. Hopkins estimated that the saving to Atlanta under the new charter, which focused authority in the hands of commissioners elected by the people instead of in the hands of boards not elected by the people, would be not less than a half million a year.

Chairman Carter Speaks.

E. V. Carter was greeted with a volley of cheers when the curtain rose.

"It is not my purpose to make a speech tonight, nor do I intend keeping you," said Mr. Carter, "but I wish to impress upon the voters of Atlanta this fact. The members of council and others fighting the new charter say that there is no principle involved; that the city is all right under its present laws, and the agitation is not only needless, but harmful. The present fight does involve a principle, and I wish you to note that it is we and not they who assert this. The day has passed when a city politician can have lights put in front of his door, can suborn the money of the city to his own ends and when the vote is counted tomorrow the result will show that the day of the pestiferous politician is passed.

"The question under consideration is a serious one, and though I did not intend to call any names tonight, to clearly illustrate my point I will speak of the great, worthy, all-ambitious Judge John S. Candler. Judge John used to live outside the city, but when he saw these city politicians getting a lot of nice juicy plums in the way of special privileges he decided that it must be nice to have such things, so he came in. A nice little house in Druid Hills was built, then politics got on the board. Result, Judge John was elected to council.

"Things went very smoothly for a time, then came the announcement that a new school was being erected in Druid Hills. The 'John S. Candler' school is that one. He was a member of the council. Some time later a fire station was built near the worthy judge's home, and to this was added a new $12,000 auto hook and ladder truck. On the day the new engine house was opened Councilman Candler tendered a dinner to a number of his fellow councilmen. After the dinner the new auto hook and truck wagon was brought out, and there, blazoned on its side in pretty gold letters was the beautiful cognomen 'John S. Candler.' It seems somewhat a pity to spoil the judge's overwhelming ambition, but before his ambition can be realized, before he can have his name carved on something that will go down through the ages he will lose his office.

"I do not charge that Judge Candler used his office to have the name 'John S. Candler' put upon the auto truck and the schoolhouse. I make no charges. But, if for no other reason, vote for the new charter on Wednesday just to put out John S. Candler."

NOTICE OF WAR SERVED ON TAFT BY INSURGENTS

The President Hears Some Very Plain Talk from Senator Bristow of Kansas.

CHALLENGE BY FISHER CAUGHT UP BY BRISTOW

Secretary of Interior in an Address Slurred the Insurgents, and Senator Bristow Was Quick to Retort—Bristow Says Courtesy to Taft Doesn't Mean Let Up in Fight on Him

Hutchinson, Kan., September 26.—Senator Joseph L. Bristow this afternoon practically served notice thta, while he was participating freely and gladly in the welcome to President Taft in Kansas, there was to be no let-up in the factional fight as soon as he left the borders of the commonwealth.

The senator's declaration came near the close of what had been a non-partisan celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the birth of Kansas as a state, and was the direct result of a three-minute speech by Walter L. Fisher, secretary of the interior. Both speakers were cheered by the throng that packed the grandstand at the state fair grounds.

Secretary Fisher, just back from Alaska, said things about the difference between "progressives of the middle-of-the-road type, like Mr. Taft," and "hypocritical, democratic progressives who opposed every practical progressive policy put forth."

Bristow Caught Up Challenge.

Senator Bristow, ranking second only to Senator La Follette, of Wisconsin, among the progressives of the senate, followed Secretary Fisher and quickly caught up the challenge.

"We, in Kansas," he said, "are always willing to grant that the other fellow is honest in his views and we expect him to grant that we are honest in ours. I want to say to President Taft and to Secretary Fisher right now that in working out the problems that confront us, we of Kansas will have our part and our say to the end that there shall be equal justice to all and special privilege to none."

The president himself had made no reference to politics. His address was purely historical and in it he had taken occasion to pay tribute to the independence in thought and action of the Kansas people, saying that no matter how much one might differ with their views, there could be nothing but admiration for their courage in carrying these views forward to a logical conclusion.

Mr. Taft had been introduced by Governor Stubbs, a progressive, as the "president of the greatest nation ever conceived in a human brain."

Stubbs on the Power of Taft.

The governor added that Kansas was the greatest state "on the face of the globe," that the United States was the "greatest nation God ever allowed to be operated," and the president of the United States "had more power and more majesty than any king or potentate of ancient or modern times."

Governor Stubbs, waving a handkerchief, led in the cheering that followed.

When the president had concluded, Governor Mann, of Virginia, made a brief address. Then came Secretary Fisher. Mr. Fisher reached Hutchinson this afternoon and had a long con-

RESIGNS PLACE AS PRESIDENT

Dr. Willis F. Westmoreland, of Atlanta, has resigned as president of the state board of health.

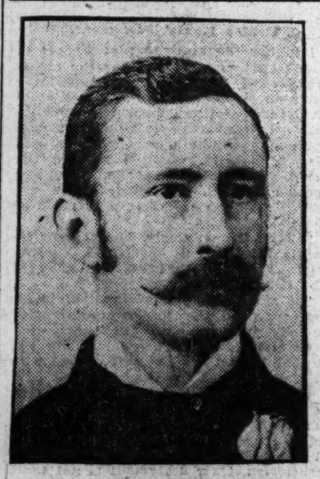

Dr. Westmoreland's resignation was tendered to the state board of health at a meeting held at the capitol Monday, and was accepted by the board.

At the same meeting the board elected Dr. Samuel C. Benedict, of Athens, to succeed Dr. Westmoreland as president.

It was currently reported that Dr. Westmoreland's action was taken as

HONEST AD WORK WANTED BY CLUB

The banquet given last night at Durand's cafe by the Atlanta Ad Men's Club in honor of G. W. Coleman, president of the Associated Advertising Clubs of America, was a brilliant event. Eighty guests were present.

After the repast a resolution was introduced by First Vice President Parkhurst asking the co-operation of the representatives from Fulton county in the legislature next year toward making it a misdemeanor for firms or ad writers to give incorrect accounts of goods in advertisements of any kind. This resolution was adopted unanimously.

President Paul P. Reese presided. S. C. Dobbs, former president of the national association, acted as toastmaster, and speeches were delivered by F. J. Paxon, Gordon P. Kiser, W. F. Spalding, H. E. Choate, Judge John S. Candler, Mr. Dobbs and George W. Coleman.

Mr. Coleman highly praised the spirit among advertising men of Atlanta. He boosted Atlanta, its co-operative spirit and the representation sent to the Ad Men's convention in Boston. He showed how advertising methods were becoming more progressive in every sense of the word, and how honesty and efficiency were taking the place of former backwoods methods. His speech was received with great applause and he was elected by unanimous vote as an honorary member of the club.

"Atlanta is a great town," said Mr. Coleman. "Its people possess a great spirit. I am not surprised, for I expected as much after I observed the delegation sent by this city's club to the convention recently held in Boston. "Tonight the one thing I want to impress upon all of you is the results always obtained by honest and efficient advertising. This is rapidly becoming the standard of all advertising men."

Much was said by the speakers about the coming Georgia Advertising Day, on November 30, on which it has been arranged for advertisers throughout the whole state to co-operate in proclaiming the merits of Georgia. Presi-

ELECTION ON CHARTER OCCURS TODAY; POLLS OPEN FROM 7 TO 7; VOTE EARLY AND AVOID THE RUSH

LOCATION OF POLLS.

The polls will be open from 7 a. m. to 7 p. m. Following are the locations.

First Ward—Mitchell and Forsyth streets, Curtis' store.

Second Ward—No. 57 South Pryor street and Pryor and Ridge avenue.

Third Ward—Fraser and Hunter streets and No. 655 East Fair street, corner Boulevard.

Fourth Ward—No. 324 Edgewood avenue.

Sixth Ward—No. 123 North Pryor and No. 251 Marietta.

Seventh Ward—Lee and Gordon and Gordon and Lucile.

Eighth Ward—Tenth street, Barry's courtroom.

Ninth Ward—No. 571 Edgewood avenue and Krogg street, and Soldiers' Home and Decatur car line.

Tenth Ward—Room adjoining McMurray's store, and corner Glenn and McDaniel streets.

Atlanta votes on the adoption of a new municipal charter today. The campaign which has been waged for several months to wipe out the old board system, and put control of the city directly in the hands of the people, will be decided.

The advocates of the new charter concluded their labors last night with a splendid rally at the Grand Opera House, which testified the interest of the people in the new charter. The opponents, held a big rally at the Grand Monday night against the charter, closing their campaign.

The polls will be open today from 7 a. m. to 7 p. m. There will be seventeen polling precincts, as two polling places have been provided in some of the wards to expedite the handling of the ballots.

A number of workers have been detailed by each side for labors at the polls, and the scenes around the various election precincts will be lively.

Chairman Carter Makes Statement.

Chairman Carter on the eve of the battle, made the following statement:

"Victory is certain if every voter in favor of the new charter does his duty at the polls.

"Only one thing can possibly defeat this forward movement, and that is the failure of its friends to come out and vote.

"I am positively convinced that a majority of the citizens of Atlanta want the new charter. But it is a mistake to believe that the anti-charter workers will allow us an easy victory. Their leaders are among the most skillful politicians in Atlanta. In their ranks are men who have played the game of politics all their lives and who know how to make the most of every opening we give. They will be at the polls, bright and early. They will be there until the polls close.

"Nothing can defeat them but your votes. But if every individual who believes in the new charter comes out and does his duty, their defeat is sure.

"We have fought a good fight, but we have not finished the course. We must register our convictions tomorrow at the polls. In the name of the central committee, I therefore urge that every individual whose convictions lead him to believe that the new charter will give Atlanta a better government, shall register those convictions by his ballot. It is an imperative duty.

"I urge that the advocates of the new charter vote early in the day, and that all who are able to do so give their best efforts to the cause.

"If you favor the new charter, come out and vote.

"Vote for your own sake.

"Vote for the sake of Atlanta."

"PATCHED UP CITY CHARTER RESEMBLES CRAZY QUILT," SAYS GEO. WESTMORELAND

Fulton Representative Recalls Faction Fights in the City Boards.

"Thinking people, think twice before you vote against the new charter."

This is the keynote to a strong and effective card, written by George Westmoreland, one of the representatives of Fulton county, who declares his intention of voting for the charter, and tells why it is better for the city to make a change.

He declares that the old charter has been so patched up that it resembles a crazy quilt; that it is like a garment that a boy has outgrown, that cannot be enlarged, but calls for a new one.

He calls attention to the control of the city by the many boards, and reminds the voters of the factions that have on many occasions injured their effectiveness.

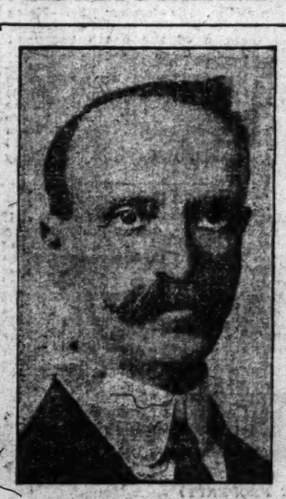

"It is not a question of contest between the rich and the poor—the rich advocating the new charter to oppress the poor," he said; "both have equal interests and their interests are the same. It is a question of the moral, intellectual and financial betterment of the whole community."

"This is a question which ought to address itself to measures, not men."

His card is as follows:

As today is a critical day in the history of our beloved city I want to say a few words about the new charter. Many things have been said on both sides of this question which, I think, ought not to have been said. This is

'FRISCO IS LOST BY UNION LABOR

Mayor McCarthy Defeated For Reelection by Plurality of 15,000.

San Francisco, September 26.—At 9 p. m., the only newspaper which supported Mayor P. H. McCarthy for reelection in the municipal election here today conceded the election of James Rolph, Jr., probably by 15,000. McCarthy had the support of the union labor party, which elected him two years ago, and Rolph was backed by both democrats and republicans.

COMMISSION RULE FOR CITIES FAVORED BY PRESIDENT TAFT

Hutchinson, Kan., September 26.—In laying the cornerstone of the new city building here today, President Taft announced himself as in favor of fixing the responsibility for municipal administraton upon one man or upon a very small body of men. Mr. Taft came very close to openly advocating the commission form of government.

"Experiments," he said, "have been made as to the character of the best municipal government. I think the general tendency of the modern view is that the municipal government is best—at least for cities of any size—which fixes the responsibility on one or a ver ysmall body of men and makes them answer to the whole people of the city for the efficiency of the government. The method by which the people elect eight or ten or twelve or fifteen different officers takes away the opportunity of the people to hold someone responsible for defects in the actual government.

"But if you give the myor under the so-called federal system the right to appoint all the officers and any officer fails the mayor is responsible because he appointed him and he ought to remove him if he is a bad man or make him better if he is capable of improvement.

"Under the so-called commission system, which I believe you have in Kansas, the same principle is exemplified."

SHE ALLEGES HER HUSBAND SOLD HER TO WEALTHY MAN

Denver, Colo., September 26.—"He spat in my face, and called me the vilest name a man can call a woman," was the reason Mrs. Gertrude Gibson Patterson gave today for killing her husband, Charles A. Patterson, formerly a Chicago broker, here yesterday. Her attorneys, it is learned, will offer "temporary insanity, the result of long abuse and final insult," as a defense.

Mrs. Patterson told her counsel that three months after her marriage Patterson sold her to Emil Strouss, the Chicago millionaire manufacturer, sued by Patterson, for a trip to Europe. The consideration, she said, was $1,500, and was paid to Patterson.

She charged Patterson urged her to resume these relations when they became short of money; that she supported him by keeping boarders in Chicago, and that Patterson repeatedly abused and beat her when she failed to give him money.

Mrs. Patterson today declined to say whether her husband fired the first shot, but added:

"I have evidence in my husband's own handwriting that will absolutely clear me before a jury."

She said she went to see Patterson yesterday to get him to withdraw his suit against Emil Strouss. "This he agreed to do if I would sign over to him my Denver home and certain Chicago property," she said, "but I refused. That's how the quarrel started."

ference with the president regarding Alaska affairs. The secretary, it is said, is convinced the people of Alaska need relief and he is going to do his utmost to see they get it.

Fisher Furnishes Feature.

An address by the secretary was not down on the program, but it furnished the most interesting feature of the day. When he arose and faced the big crowd, Mr. Fisher was silent for fully a minute. Then he said slowly:

"I am one of those that count myself a progressive."

He was interrupted by applause and cheering.

"I om a true progressive," he resumed, "and I believe in true progressiveness, and not in hypocritical or demagogical progressives who declare for a progressive policy and then oppose every practical progressive measure put forth. When President Taft said he was trying to keep in the middle of the road the other day I believe he meant what he said, and I believe that you believe he meant what he said. I am that kind of a progressive. My friend, you should judge men not by what they say, but by what they do."

Senator Bristow was introduced by Governor Stubbs, and was loudly cheered.

"We of Kansas," he said, "may at times have been acused of acting before we thought, but we always have had the courage to contend for what we believed was right, and have worked out right here in this state the greatest moral civilization in the world."

Bristow Glared at Fisher.

The senator then made his reply to Secretary Fisher, and, as he did so, glared directly at the cabinet officer.

Senator Curtis, of Kansas, classed as conservative, was next to speak, and he took advantage of the somewhat strained situation to pay a tribute to Secretary Fisher.

Senator Curtis concluded with the assertion that the people of Kansas believed Mr. Taft "broad enough and big enough to be the president of all the people."

Taft Sees Some Clever Riding.

The semi-centennial celebration was held at the state fair grounds. On the way there the president had an opportunity to see some clever riding by troopers of the United States cavalry, whose horses, frightened by the bands, the noise and the crowds, became fractious and began to buck.

Most of the troopers managed to control their horses, but one swung into the crowd and knocked down a woman and a child. Major Thomas L. Rhoads, of the army, the president's physican, saw the accident and jumped out of his motor car to lend what assistance he could. Neither the woman nor the child, however, needed medical attention.

Arriving at the fair grounds the president was greeted by an immense throng. Even the side show managers, in a moment of unexpected generosity, allowed their "freaks" freedom long enough to see the president go by his in his motor car. Mr. Taft reviewed an historical pageant including many floats. One of these represented Kansas "the way the east regards us." It showed a small shack, blown down by a cyclone and with a big sign, "mortgaged" on the door. Then came "Kansas as it really is," showing a prosperous farmer and his family enjoying an automobile ride.

President Taft lunched with Governor Stubbs, of Kansas; Mann, of Virginia, and Colquitt, of Texas. He dined tonight at the country club.

RESIGNS PLACE ON STATE BOARD

the result of friction which has arisen between himself and Dr. H. F. Harris, secretary of the board, and which has been in existence for quite a while.

Would Not Discuss Report.

What the cause of this friction may have been has not been made public.

"I do not care to discuss Dr. Westmoreland's action," said Dr. Harris, when asked about the resignation. "Let Dr. Westmoreland discuss it if he cares to do so."

When asked if he would make a statement explaining why he resigned, Dr. Westmoreland said he did not care to discuss it at this time.

"In view of the fact that it has been reported that friction existed between yourself and Dr. Harris, would you care to make a statement regarding that feature of the resignation?" Dr. Westmoreland was asked.

"I would prefer to say nothing about that," he replied.

Although neither Dr. Harris nor Dr. Westmoreland would discuss the resignation it has been reported from time to time that there were various matters on which they were far from agreeing and it was generally understood at one time that Dr. Harris himself seriously considered securing his connection with the board as the result of this friction.

Dr. Westmoreland is the only president the board has ever had since it was organized eight years ago. His term would have expired in January, 1913. Although he resigns as president he continues his membership on the board.

HONEST AD WORK WANTED BY CLUB

dent Coleman and the club gave their hearty indorsement to the plan.

In a speech delivered by W. W. Orr, the Ad Men's Day, on October 3, at the Tifton exposition, was praised, and the speaker urged a large attendance from Atlanta. The co-operation of the Atlanta club was pledged.

George W. Hopkins, of Boston, specialty manager of the Loose-Wiles Biscuit Company, was present, and in a short speech praised the work and spirit of the Atlanta Ad Men's Club.

Other than the speakers on the program, many were introduced by the toastmaster, delivering short talks on matters of vital importance.

CLAXTON ROUTE BEST FOR TOUR

Scout Finds Midway Church Road Prettier But Unavailable.

By Fred Lewis.

Savannah, Ga., September 26.—(Special.)—There is little question that the best available route from Baxley into Savannah for the 1911 good roads tour around Georgia is that by Reidsville, Claxton, Pembroke and Clyde. The Constitution scout car made the trip today from Baxley via the Glenville, Hinesville and Midway Church route, which had been highly recommended and which is, in fact, the prettiest of the two from a scenic standpoint. But the Georgia tourists are looking for two things in particular, the shortest available route around the state and the best roads. Scenery is, therefore, a secondary consideration.

The route via Glenville and Hinesville, taking in historic Midway church, where Roosevelt's ancestors are buried, is an attractive one unquestionably, but it is longer by some 25 miles than the route which was explored a month ago by The Constitution's Thomas Flyer scout, and the roads lack considerable of being as good as those on the Claxton and Clyde route. The Midway church route is impracticable except by Reidsville.

Swollen Creek Encountered.

After crossing Bell's ferry today the scout car endeavored to go direct to Glenville, cutting out Reidsville, which would have made it considerably shorter, but 6 miles from the ferry was a swollen creek that looked as big as the Altamaha itself and through which no automobile could have passed without mules to pull it. This stream was swollen by one rain to such an extent that it came into the floors of buggies driving through it.

This necessitated a detour which finally landed the car in Reidsville on the same road as is used on the other route.

The Reidsville-Glenville road is good over some portions and fair in others, but the road from Glennville to Hinesville is full of heavy sand for a distance of ten miles or more. There is a good road from Hinesville to McIntosh, but the road from McIntosh through Midway church and for ten miles beyond is very rough and full of mud holes. The Midway church route is capable of splendid development, and would make a magnificent drive, but it will require considerable work to put it in shape.

Baxley Furnishes Car.

Baxley furnished the scout car for day's trip, a Buick 16 from the garage of W. A. Melton, who accompanied the party, which included besides himself, J. W. Sikes, C. E. Grimes, who made a splendid drive through the country to Sayannah, and The Constitution representative.

There are few points on the route which exhibit so intense an interest in the coming tour as Baxley, where a company nas just been organized as the result of good roads enthusiasm to build a $80,000 bridge across the Atamaha. Baxley is the one point on the route which has voluntarily offered to entertain the entrants in this year's tour free of all expense, and as they put it today, "We don't care how many you bring."

FOSS IS NAMED BY DEMOCRATS

Boston, September 26.—As an outcome of the first state-wide primary in Massachusetts held today Governor Eugene M. Foss again will head the democratic ticket, and returns in now indicate Lieutenant Governor Lewis A. Frothingham will be his republican opponent in the November elections. Both are from this city.

There was a fairly good vote, although the total fell short of that polled at the last state election.

Governor Foss had opposition from Thomas L. Hisgen, presidential candidate of the independence league three years ago. Hisgen's vote was light.

Col. Woodbury Dead.

Washington, September 26.—News was received at the war department this afternoon of the death today at La Julls, Cal., of Colonel T. G. Woodbury. Colonel Woodbury commanded the Third infantry, but his last active duty was as a member of the general staff in Washington, from which he was detached about six months ago on account of ill health. He was born in Kentucky sixty-one years ago, and graduated from the military academy in 1868.

Call to Taxpayers.

Altus, Okla., September 26.—A call for a state-wide taxpayers' meeting has been issued by J. D. Stroud, of the Jackson County Taxpayers' League, to be held in Oklahoma City September 30 and October 1, with the purpose of forming an organization to "correct the high and excessive valuation fixed by the state board of equalization and to ask the present indebtedness of the state be funded for a term of years."

MAN CRUCIFIED BY THE YAQUIS

Horrible Death Is Inflicted On a Wealthy Mexican.

Mexico City, September 26.—Wenceslao Franco, a wealthy resident of Acala, a small town in the state of Chiapas, was crucified by the rebellious Chamula Indians when they sacked that place last Saturday, according to telegrams received by El Imparcial tonight from Tuxela Gutierrez, the state capital.

The story was brought to the Red Cross headquarters today by Franco's wife and later confirmed from other sources. The woman herself had been left for dead after having been stabbed several times by an Indian using a lance, the popular weapon of the half savage hordes.

According to the stories that have reached Tuxela Gutierrez, the insurrectos committed their depredations in a manner most barbarous. Women and children were slaughtered by the mobs, one of whose leaders was a fanatical priest. He was one of those killed.

Refugees declare the Indians made of the massacre of babies a gruesome sport, tossing them high into the air and catching them on the tips of their lances.

Semi-officially it is stated tonight that a military governor, probably General Jose de la Luz Blanco, of revolutionary fame, will be sent to Chiapas to restore order.

Another uprising reported tonight is led by a man called "Nayarith" in the territory of Tepic. Misapprobation of the acts of the jefe politico is given as the cause of his insurrection. He has proclaimed a new jefe politico in Sierra de Alica.

MORTUARY

D. N. Hampton, Cedartown.

Cedartown, Ga., September 26.—(Special.)—D. N. Hampton, aged 78 years, one of the oldest settlers of Polk county, died at his home about 6 miles west of this city this morning about 6 o'clock. Mr. Hampton came to this county many years ago from his boyhood home in Madison county. He had been in failing health for some time, and his death was expected at any time. He leaves a wife and two children, Mrs. J. W. Pullen and Mrs. L. Sutherlin. The funeral will be held at Friendship Baptist church at 1 o'clock tomorrow, and will doubtless be attended largely, as Mr. Hampton had many friends in this section.

John Thomas Turner.

John Thomas Turner, aged 41, died at the residence, 243 Formwalt street, last night at 12 o'clock. He is survived by his father, J. M. Turner; three brothers, C. M., W. H. and J. E., and two small sons, Clyde and Ernest. The funeral services will be conducted Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the residence, and the interment will be at West View.

Grady Brooks.

The body of Grady Brooks, who died in Detroit, passed through the city yesterday afternoon on its way to Lexington, Ga., where the funeral services will be held today. He is survived by his father and one brother.

Mrs. C. B. Sims.

Mr. C. B. Sims, aged 66 years, died yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock in Jonesboro, Ga. The funeral and interment will take place this afternoon at 2 o'clock in Jonesboro.

Mrs. Henrietta Winburn.

Mrs. Henrietta Wells Winburn, aged 42 years, died yesterday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the residence of her sister, Mrs. M. D. Garr, at 188 Gordon street, West End. The funeral arrangements will be made later. She is survived by her husband, H. N. Winburn; two sisters, Mrs. Gaar and Mrs. A. W. Hawes, and one brother, Rev. W. A. Wells.

Mrs. H. F. Wallace.

Mrs. H. F. Wallace died yesterday morning at 11 o'clock at the residence on West Fifth street. The funeral will be conducted Thursday morning at 10 o'clock from the Barclay & Brandon chapel and the interment will be in Hollywood.

Manning W. Oliver.

Manning W., the 5-months-old child of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Oliver, died yesterday morning at the residence at 23 West Harris street. The funeral arrangements will be made upon the arrival of Mr. Oliver.

ENGINEERS WANT INCREASE IN PAY

Will Also Ask Roads for Better Working Conditions.

"Improved working conditions and better pay. That is all the brotherhood wants," said W. S. Stone, grand chief engineer of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, yesterday.

Mr. Stone and W. F. Burgess, assistant to the grand chief, are in Atlanta for the purpose of attending the executive conference of the southeastern division of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. This division comprises all the territory south of the Potomac and east of the Mississippi. Forty-seven roads are represented at the meeting now being held in Atlanta.

Contracts between the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and the roads on which the engineers work are made for a sepcified time the country over. In the southeastern territory many of these contracts have run almost the limit, and at their death new contracts will be substituted on agreement between the engineers and railroad managers.

The engineers now convened in Atlanta are here to debate the nature of the new contract with the roads. The engineers want, and it will be written in the contract they will tender the managers, an increase in wages and better working conditions.

Managers of the forty-seven lines within the southeastern section have been advised of the meeting in Atlanta, and it is believed that they will all be in the city before the end of the week for a conference with the heads of the Brotherhood of Engineers.

"There is no reason on earth," said Grand Chief Stone, "to think of the slightest trouble between the engineers' brotherhood and the railroad managers in the southeastern section."

Marble Shaft at Shiloh.

Corinth, Miss., September 26.—A marble shaft, a memorial to the Arkansas soldiers who were killed at the battle of Shiloh, erected by the Arkansas division of the Daughters of the Confederacy, was unveiled at Shiloh park this afternoon.

CLOSING MEETING FOR THE CHARTER

was along the same line he has followed during the campaign. He said the present situation in Atlanta and the opportunity offered the people Wednesday was one to stir the blood and arouse one's enthusiasm. Possibly not again in forty years would the same chance come to the city, he said. If the people only realized what the little politicians were doing, there would be no doubt of a vast majority at the polls, he declared.

"The form of city government we are now struggling along under is moss-back and antedeluvian," he said. "It belongs to the old Aztecs."

Tracing the history of the new charter movement, he told of the efforts of the present council to throw a sop to the people in the shape of such a change in the present administration as would cut the various boards in half.

"Council would never consent to any change until a fire was built under them," he said. "When the fight came between council on the one side, and the business interests of Atlanta, on the other, council attempted to foist its own plan of charter revision. Its plan looked to fishing an old dead cat out of the ash can and cutting it in half, and saying to the people half a cat did not smell as bad as a whole one. It was a scheme to re-christen old Maude as Clara Vere de Vere. But it didn't work."

He said there were at present seventy-five members of various boards connected with the city government, not one of whom the people elected. He said there was not a board but had precipitated broils and disputes which were demoralizing to efficient administration.

Praises Dan Carey.

"You have the power to abolish these boards. Why don't you do it? Does the city belong to you?" exclaimed the speaker.

Taking up the park board he said: "Little fat, red-headed Dan Carey has done a magnificent thing for Atlanta. He has told the truth and there is not a human being in Atlanta who can successfully dispute a word he has uttered."

"Then there is the police board," continued Mr. Hopkins.

A voice in the audience shouted: "Tell 'em about it." Another volleyed: "Tell all you know." Mr. Hopkins enjoined: "That would take me until tomorrow night when the polls closed."

He referred again to Carlos Mason, of the police board, and charged the latter with having attempted to defeat the new charter in the legislature by giving a wine supper to the state solons.

"If I were a policeman and wanted some furniture, would I dare buy it anywhere else but at Mr. Carlos Mason's furniture store?" asked Mr. Hopkins. "If I wanted to start a summer resort and needed a bed, wouldn't I go to Mr. Mason, if I thought there was any danger of the blue coats giving me trouble? I am not charging graft," he continued. "I am only indicting the system under which this is possible."

Urged Veto of Bill.

He charged that Mr. Mason had gone to Governor Brown and urged the chief executive to veto the charter bill if it was sent to him by the legislature.

"We are entitled to have the affairs of our great city efficiently and economically administered," said Mr. Hopkins. "Under the new charter there will be no police patronage, there will be no sewer patronage, nor street paving patronage. We will have responsible men, who will be under bond to administer their offices well, and who will be subject to recall at any time. We propose to have honest agents in charge of our affairs, who will represent Atlanta alone."

Continuing his discussion of inefficiency in administration, he said the city had been put to the expense of $150,000 for a pump that wouldn't pump, and for a $30,000 basin that wouldn't hold water. He cited a case of street paving where the paving wore out at one end before it was completed at the other, and had to be gone over again before the job was completed. He cited another case where a tile pavement was laid on top of freshly thrown up earth, and within a few months was a total wreck of a sidewalk.

He charged that the wood blocks on Decatur street and Madison avenue did not come up to the specifications, and said a lengthy controversy which involved bringing many experts here from a distance would have been avoided had the work been properly done in the first instance.

Attorney J. D. Kilpatrick, the next speaker, was introduced by Chairman Carter as "that distinguished lawyer, patriotic citizen, and man who stands always for the good of the people, and is faithful to their trust, Mr. Kilpatrick."

Disclaiming any belief that the city charter would fail of adoption tomorrow, Mr. Kilpstrick said that even such a result would not end the fight, but the crusade would be carried on in the confidence that success would at last be met.

"But I am not by nature nor disposition a Jeremiah," he said. "I have both faith and hope. Do not construe my remarks as a confession of weakness."

He brought the indictment against the present city government that it was impossible under this system for an able official to give the best service to the people, and was possible for an inefficient and corrupt official to put countless burdens upon the people.

"Let's change the system and make it possible for a good officer to give good service," he said.

Denies Kontz' Statement.

Denying the statement of Ernest C. Kontz that no provision for the maintenance of the public schools was made in the new charter, Mr. Kilpatrick read section 26, which provides that no money shall be paid out except upon approval of a commissioner; and also section 11, which says that the mayor shall be a commissioner, and section 32, which provides that the mayor shall be ex-officio a member of the school board.

"Judge Ernest Curly Kontz knew he was attempting to deceive the people when he made that statement," said Mr. Kilpatrick.

"So far as I, as a private individual, am concerned, the charter does not materially interest me, but I am very largely interested when I consider the matter from the viewpoint of one who is a member of the body politic.

"The members of the present city council point with pride to their assertion that we owe just $5,000,000 and have $20,000,000 in assets. Such a thing would be admirable if true, but, gentlemen, their statement is not true. The city owes much more than $5,000,000, and our assets are but $15,000,000. Just think! $15,000,00! In the last thirty-eight years the municipality has had an average yearly income of over $3,000,000. And the city has assets of $15,000,000. If that sum could be saved under the old, haphazard method, what could be done under the new and efficient charter?

Atlanta Is Key to West.

"Along the entire Atlantic coast there extends a range of mountains, impassable for railroads in most places. Atlanta is the key to the west for the eastern cities, for practically all the traffic to the southwest passes round this chain of mountains, and in so doing comes through Atlanta. In the middle of our great country lies one of the greatest and most fertile valleys ever known to the world. Corn, wheae and other products worth millions and millions of dollars are raisid there. That priduce passes through Atlanta. Think of the advantages and attractions a well-governed city would offer to those Brobdingnagian shippers."

"Atlanta is one of the greatest cities in the United States today. Her drainage is such that in spite and despite the insanitary conditions allowed to exist by the city council, she has a death rae lower than any other great city in the country. We are healthy, we have fertile fields, magnificent factories, men and women who are above reproach, and are an honor to the southland. Is it because of the present city government? No, it is in spite of it.

"To you, citizens of Atlanta, I close my speech with an appeal to you to go out tomorrow, wipe from the face of the earth the dump heaps and the insanitary conditions, the legal influencing of trade with city officials, and in their stead put a rule under which such conditions cannot and will not exist."

$8,305 RAISED FOR WESLEYAN

Field Staff Is Here Working to Close Up the Campaign.

The Wesleyan campaign met with further gratifying success in the canvass of yesterday. The regular full staff of the college, which has rendered such efficient service throughout the state in securing the $270,000 already raised, is in Atlanta for the remainder of the week. These workers, in addition to Dr. Ainsworth, president of Wesleyan, are Professor C. R. Jenkins and J. M. Glenn and J. A. Smith. The Atlanta central committee, composed of many of Atlanta's leading business men, is in general charge of the campaign.

The reports of the workers at the close of last night's work indicated a total of $8,305. Among the leading contributors Tuesday were: C. H. Ashford, $250; Henry S. Johnson, $250; John S. Owens, $250; Thomas K. Glenn, $100; T. P. Westmoreland, $100; L. B. Robeson, $100; W. D. Thomson, $50; Mrs. W. S. Robison, $50; H. E. W. Palmer, $50; E. L. Rhodes, $50; I. N. Stowe, $50; R. L. Avary, $50; J. H. McCord, $50; Mrs. Fannie Wright, $50; F. J. Mashburn, $50, and numerous others.

BUSY DAY ARRANGED FOR ATLANTANS AT TIFTON

Looks Now as if Special Train May Be Needed to Carry Party From Here.

"Governor's and Atlanta Day" at the South Georgia Land and Agricultural exposition at Tifton promises to be one of the features of this south Georgia exposition.

To the chamber of commerce are daily coming acceptances to invitations to make the trip in such numbers that it is now thought to be well within the range of possibilities that the A., B. & A. will have to put on a special train to accommodate the crowd which will go from this city on October 4, the day set aside for the governor and Atlantans especially. Enthusiasm over the exposition and what it will mean for the state as a whole is increasing here daily and those who are promoting the movement to have Atlanta largely represented on her day believe that the number making the trip will be far in excess of what was at first expected.

Announcement of the program for the day the governor and the Atlanta contingent is to spend at the fair has just been made.

The train which will carry the party will reach Tifton at 7:50 o'clock on the morning of October 4 and will be met by prominent Tifton citizens who will escort the party to the Myon hotel for breakfast.

At 10 o'clock the party will go to the exposition grounds, where upwards of two hours will be spent in an inspection of the exhibits and other features. After this they will assemble at the auditorium, where an address of welcome to the governor and others to the Atlanta party will be made. The governor will reply in behalf of himself and the state. Mayor Pro Tem. John S. Candler, Fred Paxon, president of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce; J. K. Orr, president of the local Merchants and Manufacturers' Association, and President H. M. Atkinson, of the A., B. & A., will speak also.

Following the addresses a general reception in honor of the Atlanta visitors will be held, after which dinner will be served. In the afternoon the visitors will witness the annual football game between the Second District Agricultural college and the Presbyterian institute at Blackshear.

At 6 o'clock the party will take in the "midway," after which supper will be served just prior to the start back to Atlanta.

$75,000 WORTH OF PROPERTY SOLD BY REALTY COMPANY

Almost $75,000 worth of property was sold in the neighborhood of Gilmer, Pratt and Decatur streets at auction yesterday afternoon.

The sale, which was pulled off by the Realty Trust Company, was not only largely attended, but was considered a pronounced success. There were upward of 500 people in attendance, and from the very first the bidding was spirited.

Steve R. Johnston, who did the auctioneering, announced in the beginning that he was "feeling just right," and when he ran the price of one of the first lots from $30 up to $515 at $5 per clip the crowd was ready to take him at his word. The particular lot in question was only 10 feet wide with a depth of 53 feet. It was finally knocked down to R. Rozinski for $515.

There were thirty-two lots sold, the prices per front foot ranging all the way from $35 to $175. They brought $72,774.60.

Dr. Joel T. Daves and R. Rozinski each purchased four lots, the McCord-Stewart Company purchased a like number. C. H. Black paid the highest price per front foot, buying lot No. 1 in the Phoenix Mill property at Gilmer and Butler streets, paying therefor $175 per front foot. This lot had a frontage of 25 feet, making Mr. Black's purchase price $4,400. Only one other lot brought a larger sum. This was lot No. 2, in the Wade property, at Gilmer and Pratt streets, which brought $5,990, with a frontage of 98 1-5 feet.

Purchasers and Prices.

Following is the list of purchasers and the prices paid by each:

Phoenix Mill Property, Gilmer and Butler Streets—Lot No. 1, C. H. Black, $4,400; No. 2, Lewis W. Thomas, $3,050; No. 3, Dr. Joel T. Davis, $2,184; No. 4, Dr. Joel T. Daves, $2,184; No. 5, Dr. Joel T. ## ELECTRIC LIGHT MEN MEET IN COLUMBUS

Columbus, Ga., September 26.—(Special.)—The first convention of the Georgia section of the National Electric Light Association, which was organized a year ago in Atlanta, began here today with an attendance of some seventy-five, representing every section of the state. The membership has increased 239 per cent in the past year. The majority of those in attendance are engineers or eectrical experts and the personnel of the convention is high.

The meeting was called to order by John S. Bleecker, of Columbus, president of the association, who made an interesting address. Mayor Rhodes Browne welcomed the electric light folks in a happy address.

The feature of the morning was a paper prepared by A. M. Schoen, of Atlanta, chief engineer of the Southeastern Underwriters' Association, and in his absence it was read by F. G. Tupper. A general discussion of the subject ensued, and among other suggestions made was that the Southeastern Underwriters' Association prescribe the qualifications of municipal electrical inspectors, the charge being made that many of the present inspectors are incompetent. A committee was appointed on the subject.

In the afternoon C. B. Martin, agent of the United States department of agriculture, made an address on the pine beetle. Two papers were read, "Supply of Electric Energy to Textile Mills," by George K. Hutchins, Columbus, and "Low Pressure Turbines," by E. H. Ginn, Atlanta, Ga. A reception was given the visitors at the Muscogee Club tonight. The convention continues through tomorrow.

Savings Bank for Cuthbert.

Cuthbert, Ga., September 26.—(Special.)—The commercial importance of Cuthbert has again been recognized. A savings bank has been ordered established by the United States government in connection with the Cuthbert postoffice. The bank has been ordered to begin operation October 26. Cuthberts postoffice, like her other institutions, has been growing steadily year by year.

The College Man and His Clothes

Our plans for Fall and Winter have very specially included a care for College Men. There is youth in every line of the Box Suit, and this style has lost none of its popularity with young men.

Our New Custom Model

Combines all the favored points of the Box Suit, and also possesses a newness in the straight front.

The general smart finish of this suit warrants the name.

"H. & W." MATERNITY WAISTS

Supports the figure perfectly and at the same time gives that feeling of ease, so essential in a garment of this sort. Made of fine, soft coutil and is adjustable by means of lacings at sides and at front. All steels are removable. Hose supporters front and side. Most scientific and practical waist yet devised for the prospective mother. Also splendid for invalids and convalescents.

Now being demonstrated at the store

"H. & W." CORSET WAISTS

Since its initial appearance this shapely model has grown steadily in popular favor. It embodies the desired style-features and at the same time provides a comfortable and perfect fit. There is no rigidity to this garment owing to the light boning which gives elasticity, thereby permitting free and easy movement. It is made of fine twill, and has strong hose supporters at front and sides.

"H. & W." BRASSIERES

Today the "H. & W." Sheathlyne Brassieres are as handsome a line of undergarments as any buyer could ask, or any woman could wear. To their fundamental use of supporting the bust, has been added one important improvement after another. Each season there has been introduced smarter and more dressy trimming ideas, but their fitting qualities have reached a stage of perfection where improvement is possible.

"H. & W." GIRLS' CORSET WAISTS

Many young girls are today wearing corsets designed for fully developed women, simply because they are not aware of the fact that corset waists admirably adapted to their own figures can be had. The "H. & W." Corset Waists are designed by experts for the correct and hygienic corseting of the growing girl to bring about a healthful and proper development of the figure.

"H. & W." CHILDREN'S WAISTS

Mothers attach as much importance to the selection of the child's waist as their own, as they realize that fitting an underbody is more important than fitting of a dress, especially for the children. "H. & W." Underwaists carry all weight of the clothing from the shoulder. Tape bound buttonholes. Won't tear out. Buttons put on with double tape; will not pull off.

Special attention is paid to the selection of neat, dainty patterns in lace or embroidery used for trimming purposes.

TO INVESTIGATE RIGHTS OF GEORGIA AT TALLULAH

Whether or not the state of Georgia has power to prevent the Georgia Power Company from utilizing the falls at Tallulah will be argued before Governor Smith next Friday. The governor announced yesterday that he has fixed that date for the hearing.

The case has arisen over the efforts of the Tallulah Falls Conservation Association to prevent the power company from utilizing the water power at the falls, which, it is claimed, will mean the destruction of the beautiful scenery.

The conservation association contends that the state has title to the property which the company has laid claim to and which it intends to use in the development of the falls, and it is claimed by the association that it is within the power of the state to claim this property and force the power company to abandon it. The association has put the question up to the company.

Attorney General Felder will sit with the governor at the hearing of the case.

PACKING UP REVOLVERS MAN SHOT AND KILLED

Lyons, Ga., September 26.—(Special.) W. H. Coleman, a former citizen of Lyons, and a son of M. M. Coleman, was accidentally shot and instantly killed in his hardware store at Soperton, Ga., last night by his clerk, Lawrence Williams.

They were putting revolvers in the safe for the night, when the last one handed by Williams to Coleman was accidentally discharged and the bullet entered Mr. Coleman's head just above the left ear.

ALMOST EATEN ALIVE BY VICIOUS WORMS

W. E. DICKENS IS NOW WELL, AFTER HAVING BEEN A CHRONIC SUFFERER. AS USUAL, "QUAKER" DOES THE WORK.

Mr. W. E. Dickens lives on Dancey street, in East Atlanta. He is now a tilesetter, but was formerly on the police force of Monroe, also serving in the same capacity in Jersey. For years he suffered, suffered, and continued to suffer. How and from what he is not able to say. Doctors said he had "stomach trouble," he himself thought he had an affection of that organ, and from the agonies and distresses he endured, no doubt it was stomach trouble. He felt exhausted and run down, had severe pains in his stomach, and could not eat without having awful misery. His sleep was broken by dreams, and he would lie awake several hours each night. He gradually grew nervous, weak and discouraged, and could not do his work. He used many remedies supposed to be relief for such conditions, but got no better. Prescriptions also failed to do anything for his case. About two months ago an intimate friend told Mr. Dickens to call on Gray at the Coursey & Munn drug store, and see about Quaker Extract. He did so, and after he had explained his case, was sold a treatment of three bottles of the Extract, which he took home and began using immediately. After several doses he began to feel much better, and on the third day he expelled over a hundred large stomach worms, which had been the entire cause of all his trouble. Nothing else could cure him, for the simple reason that they could not reach the seat of the trouble, although really intended for ordinary stomach troubles. The wonderful Quaker Herb Extract has a positive worm and germ destroyer in its formula, and if there are any such things in the system of those who are taking the remedy, they will be expelled. If there are no worms, then that herb works in harmony with the others of the formula in removing the cause of the disease, regardless of the origin. So you see, Quaker Extract cures any branch of stomach trouble, such as indigestion, biliousness, costiveness, etc., also kidney, bladder, blood and skin troubles, for it has the proper qualifications for curative work. But there are no opiates, no minerals, and no vile chemicals in it at all; so you cannot possibly harm the system of even an infant by giving it. Gray wants to see those who suffer with the above complaints, as he is proving every day in the week that these Quaker Remedies will cure, even after all other methods have failed completely. Therefore do not be discouraged, sufferer, but go to him immediately, and find out about "Quaker." He can be seen at the Coursey & Munn drug store, 29 Marietta street, from 9 a. m. till 9 p. m. daily. Quaker Extract is 6 for $5, 3 for $2.50, $1 single bottle. Oil of Balm, 25c. Gray always proves what he says.

Today for the New Charter!

It's the long pull and the strong pull for the state four.

Still, Kimmel is not the only man who doesn't know himself.

It would be the finest weather in the world for Christmas shopping.

The new charter and the best interests of the citizens of Atlanta.

Let us hear from all of them, under the high heading: "If I were president."

Perhaps Dr. Broughton will enable the czar to see light in Darkest Russia.

President Taft is so human that the troubles of life make him awfully unhappy!

Now, if Italy could just place the home black-handers in the front of the battle.

They're pretty late with the admission that Admiral Schley really looped the loop.

We have little faith in Wall Street, even when the meeting is opened with prayer.

France is unfortunate in having battleships to blow up just when she's talking war.

Don't give the hard-hearted trust what is coming to it until you've ordered your winter's coal.

The football hospital ambulances will soon be in a clanging race with the red devil fire-wagons.

But the gubernatorial fight didn't warm up until there was a chance of the office being vacant.

Let Canada go her wild way for the present. We have many interesting troubles here at home.

"Cheer up!" is the cry of the political orators. Impossible, when they're speaking from every stump.

How can Uncle Joe Cannon say he is "only a plain republican," when they have trimmed him to a frazzle?

Prices may soar to the skies, but it is doubtful if the men who gave them the uplift will ever break in there.

It was easy for Colonel Bryan to get in the moving picture films. He's on the move from dawn to dark, and even after that he drums up an audience.

The Maine poets are in a quandary. They don't know whether to write poems to pure water, or lyrics to the cherry in the bottom of the glass.

Seems like a pretty long summer to the man who heeded the insane advice of the weather prophets and cast the cool straw lid to the four winds.

In regard to President Taft, we might vary the famous lines to read: "Advice to the right of him, advice to the left of him volleyed and blundered."

Truly, Colonel Bryan is of a meek spirit, since he says he has "preserved the sweetness of his disposition," in the face of the fact that the country has soured on him.

The Houston Post says "Champ Clark played the devil with reciprocity in Canada!" Which may cause Champ to assume the role of the Great Explainer in his platform progress.

TODAY'S ISSUE---ATLANTA.

Down with demagogy, up with facts!

The paramount issue in today's election is Atlanta.

A vote against the charter delays Atlanta's advancement.

That is the case, stated in two sentences.

Eleventh-hour misrepresentations should not deceive the average man, the working man, the small home-owner.

It is easiest to think by prejudice.

It is best, in the end, to be governed by reason.

Prejudice is not going to wipe out the inefficiency every man of voting age knows exists under the present system.

It will take a new deal to do that. The new charter provides the new deal.

Prejudice may save the life of the old system a few months longer.

It will not gain the average man, the working man, the small home-owner the rights for which he has been privately organizing and futilely clamoring for years.

Judge a system by its fruits as you would a tree.

The prevailing system simply cannot stand that test. Size it up and down. Measure it by its deficiencies in your own ward, your own street, your own neighborhood. Gauge it by the way it has fallen down the city over.

No use to frazzle details. You wouldn't have been kicking all these months and years if you hadn't known there was something radically wrong in the system.

A few of the fearless in office today brand the existing system as inefficient. These men are not battling for a change because they love agitation. Most of them despise agitation. But they know, as you know, a change is imperative to the city's welfare.

The change the new charter provides is only radical in that it lambasts the evils against which the average man has been making vain protest. It dashes them from the map. So far as is humanly possible, the new charter scourges politics from the city's government. It substitutes business.

That's why the business men are for the new charter. On election today, we repeat—

Watch the charter line-up!

We do not deny that there are some good men in the opposition. All good men make mistakes.

But the blindest partisan cannot ignore the powerful fact that those elements in Atlanta's population that have meant advancement in the past are aligned with the new charter.

Business men, professional men, representative Atlantans do not neglect their private affairs and throw sinew and brain into a campaign unless they see the necessity.

In your private life, you study the methods of success that you may find a key for your own use.

Apply the same formula in the case of Atlanta's municipal charter.

Remember this, emphatically:

There have been demagogic appeals to the "poor man" to vote against the new charter; some stroke-of-twelve caressing of the "poor man," the "farmer boys" of Atlanta.

Mr. Average man, isn't it a poor cause that has to insult your intelligence and your ambition with this worn-out clap-trap?

The advocates of the new charter take their stand upon this impregnable point:

The "poor man," the "farmer boys," of Atlanta, have suffered most in the past from the present system and they know it. They have the squarest deal ever under the new charter and its opponents know that, too.

Such are the facts. Atlanta's best interests are in the hands of Atlantans. A vote against the new charter is a vote to give another lease to misrule and inefficiency.

PERHAPS THE DAWN BREAKS.

Merciful heavens! Here is a candidate for office admitting he's a "politician" and not a demi-god, divinely called to "save the people!" It is to Arthur P. Gorman, democratic nominee for governor of Maryland, that a wearied nation may turn with gratitude. Perhaps the dawn breaks. At least, Arthur Gorman is a streamer in the east. We were about to abandon hope. The country has long groaned under the locust-plague of blatherskite, barrel-head politicians, who spout "reform" promises and platitudes as candidates, but who as office-holders make the alleged subterfuges and tyranny of the so-called "bosses" look like lessons from a Sunday-school book. Here, at last, is a politician who does not want to wear a halo. Praise be!

"I am a democrat and a politician, and I am not ashamed to plead guilty to either charge," declares Mr. Gorman. Spoken like a man and a red-blooded one, not like the elocutionists who have been calling themselves "people's candidates," "people's friends," and vowing a hatred of the word "politics."

We pin our faith to a candidate of this type. He is worthy to rank with his distinguished father, one of the most powerful democrats ever given by Maryland to the nation.

We reproduce elsewhere portions of Mr. Gorman's address, with editorial comment, from The Baltimore Sun. Admitting himself a democrat and a politician, not seeking to beguile the credulous with catch-phrases or Sunday-school claims, or pretenses to divine guidance, Mr. Gorman goes further in promising decent government than any alleged "progressive" candidate could possibly do. So sincere are the pledges he has given to statesmanship that he is cordially indorsed by so exacting a political criterion as The New York Evening Post—the Holy Moses of the mugwumps.

It is significant that, the country over, the people are turning to straightforward, if mere, human beings for their candidates, as against those oily individuals that wrap about themselves the garments of sanctity. The revulsion is natural, and it was inevitable. Natural, because the people have found out that your typical, unselfish, heaven-sent "foe of the machine" and "friend of the people," skids into office on such mealy-mouthed mush only to later turn tricks, betray promises, flout the people and play politician in such amazing style as the most consummate political ring-master of the old school would not dare attempt. We have had them—right here in Georgia.

Let us hope that, hereafter, men and not self-labeled archangels, are to rule in polities, as in every other activity of existence. Tired Georgia, as well as the fatigued nation, ought to congratulate Maryland on the possession of Mr. Gorman.

ENGLAND BANNING FISTIC BARBARITY.

If the courts sustain the program of Home Secretary Winston Churchill, of England, the prize fight between Bombardier Wells, British champion, and Johnson, the American negro pugilist, will be banned. All the better, if, as the promoters claim, an interference with the present match means the doom of the "sport" in England.

Thre was not one redeeming feature to the Reno combat between Johnson and Jeffries. It appealed to the most bestial passions of both races, passions that should have become obsolete with the jungle's passing, and inflamed racial sentiment the country over.

Should Great Britain refuse to countenance these revivals of barbarity, both races will be gainers, not to cite the elevated standards of that civilization of which Great Britain is so conspicuous a part.

A Song of October.

I.

Ho! October is fast coming,
Ever blithe, and ever gay—
For I saw his roving footprints
In the meadows yesterday:
Flame of sumac he had kindled,
Golden tracks traced in and out,
Through the woodlands and the marshes.
And the little streams about.

II.

Over uplands and on hillsides,
Plumes of gorgeous golden-rod
Shimmer in the molten splendor
Shining down on sand and sod;
And in shady, woodland passes
Autumn leaves softly falling
To the rythm of the grasses—
Of chirring crickets calling.

III.

In the tawny fields are gleaming,—
Oh ripe and round and yellow,—
Pumpkins, like a gold moon-beaming—
Through tang of apples mellow
From the rich expanse of orchards
Where the boughs are hanging low
With their red and golden fruitage
In the summer's after glow.

IV.

Out in the deep forest-by-ways
Lizzards sleek among the leaves
And spiders spin their silver rays
Until a rainbow weaves!
While further down among the reeds
Where the swamp lies dank and low,
The misty fleet Ephemera
Veer hither to and fro.

V.

And gay beneath the hazy sky
Katy-Dids and moths explore
And oh, the brilliant butterfly
Swims sun-ward—shore to shore!
Can any month so proudly boast
Of Nature's gift and gem?
October wears the jewel-host,
Her very diadem!

—AUGUSTA WALL.

Killybegs.

Sweet village! Nature's loving hand
Hath lavished gifts on thee;
Thy back is propped by mountains grand,
Thy front looks on the sea;
But neither sea nor mountain bold,
Nor landscape passing fair,
Exhausts the charms thou dost unfold
In bracing, balmy air.

Thy kindly folk with welcome hail
All visitors that go
By car, by cycle, or by rail,
Thy varied charms to know;
And cheerfully do they dispense
Sustaining food and ale,
With profuse hand and small expense—
To pay no one can fail.

Thy harbour is a port secure
For ships of largest size,
And pleasure-boats are always sure
There never to capsize.
Thy fishermen, a hardy race,
With charming fortunes ply
Their per'lous craft, and dare to face
The wrath of sea and sky.

Dear Killybegs! mayst thou extend,
And may thy noble bay
Be more and more the gen'rous friend,
Where shoals of fish shall play;
And o'er its tranquil surface glide
Thy merchants' ships galore,
To bear thy wares o'er ocean's tide
To many a foreign shore.

ARRESTED FOR HOLDING UP OLD MAN AND TAKING $20

Bob Thompson, a young white man, was arrested yesterday, charged with being implicated in a highway robbery some months ago. Will Arrendale has been convicted of the same offense, and is now in the chain gang, according to the police.

Thompson is said to have been with Arrendale when he held up an old man on the street and took $20 away from him. The money is said to have been turned over to Thompson.

JULIAN HARRIS OF UNCLE REMUS', ONE OF EARLIEST TO ADVOCATE COMMISSION, FOR NEW CHARTER

Giving his reasons for the attitude he has taken toward the new charter, Julian Harris, editor of Uncle Remus's Home Magazine and one of the authors of the commission plan, has written a statement of his position in the matter, explaining the supposition entertained by many of his friends that he was opposed to the movement.

Here is Mr. Harris' own statement:

To Atlanta Voters: Yesterday morning I chanced to hear a gentleman make this statement:

"Julian Harris is against the compromise charter—that's why you don't see his name used in this fight."

I wish to correct this, and state that it is my intention to vote for the compromise charter. I am confident that the acceptance of the charter will be a wise, forward move. The city's business conduct is honey-combed with inefficiency—an inefficiency due not so much to the men as to the system.

It is not true that the present system affords a genuine representative government. It clings to and follows the line long ago abandoned in our presidential elections—formerly the electors actually selected the president. Today the people would revolt if their right to vote for the presidential candidates was taken from them.

Boards Are Deaf to Voters' Appeals.

The city is ruled by boards, but the board members—certainly the majority of them—are deaf to requests of the voters. And the boards furnish splendid first aid to nepotism. Witness the fight against Dan Carey by a clique who wanted to infest the park department with kinsmen of their own or of councilmen. To the system this can be blamed.

If the present system is so thoroughly representative, why the necessity for ward clubs, and similar organizations? If the present system is representative, why was David Yarbrough, who was selected by two of three of his council members and indorsed by several hundred voters of his ward, defeated for the water board by a man named by a councilman from the seventh ward?

Why blame Alderman Maddox for grabbing every possible contract? The system, backed by a decision of the city attorney, permits it to be legalized. It is simply a question of wiping out, not just Messrs. Maddox and Mayson, but the system.

Recently Alderman Chambers in an advertisement bewailed the mud-spattered cottages of the poor and the unpaved streets in certain districts. He is doubtless correct, but—

Why has not forty years under the present system sufficed to remedy this condition? Why have not these streets been paved? Why are these cottages mud-bespattered? It is because "the poor," as Mr. Chambers designates them, are not fancied until voting time comes around.

Insincerity of Opposition.

But above all, and beyond everything in this charter fight protrudes like a danger signal the insincerity of the majority of the leaders who are so valiantly attacking a move forward. Was it Judge George Hillyer who fought the proposal to present the original commission charter to the people, and in fighting said that the people were not equipped to vote on so important a measure? And then when it appeared that a compromise charter was about to be adopted without a vote of the people, was it the same Judge Hillyer who demanded that the people should be allowed to vote because it was too important a measure to go through without the sanction of the voters?

Today you find men opposing the compromise charter because it has no proper recall, because it has provided a board of education—they would be for it, they say, but for these features. Would they? They would not. Such talk is the concentrated essence of insincerity. What is wished for by the majority of those who oppose the charter is a continuance in office, that a little patronage may lend some power in petty ward politics. That is the plain truth, or else the situation is even worse.

Why Should They Catch the Laboring Man?

If you chance to be a laboring man—a worker whose home is today bearing the burden of assessments and has been for forty years—ask yourself why has there been no move before to readjust the burden of taxation? Why have the advocates of the old system suddenly acquired a deep affection for the small property owner, after having discriminated against him for two score years? Judge Hillyer is a leader in this fight for the old system—the old sytem which now promises higher assessments on central property. Answer this question to yourself and honestly:

"Since it is true that Judge Hillyer owns one piece of central property, the true market value of which is nearly a quarter of a million dollars, do you believe that he thinks the assessment on central property is going to be raised if the present system continues entrenched in power?"

For myself—and I believe that I can truthfully say that the laboring man has no more consistent friend, nor one who has shown more fairness in the treatment of his own employees—I urge every working man and every small home owner to vote for the compromise charter. It is the workingman—no matter what his line—who is the real builder. He has in this proposed plan a panacea for a number of ills. Today the workingmen are in the position of the separated sticks, their strength scattered through ten wards. With the opportunity to amalgamate and vote as a whole in every city election they will have the strength to call to a reckoning any men who might seek to continue the program of the past forty years and still leave the cottages of the poor mud-bespattered and their streets unpaved.

Do not be deceived by the phrases put out by the advocates of the present system, for their dire predictions are based on dreams and their arguments are fathered by their imagination. Let us go forward a great stride today by accepting the proposed new charter.

Sincerely,
JULIAN HARRIS.

MR. GORMAN'S SPEECH.

(From The Baltimore Sun.)

On all the subjects usually regarded as delicate by nominees for office who have had the support of a political machine, Mr. Gorman's speech is refreshingly frank and free from evasion.

The chief source of alarm about Mr. Gorman's election has been the mischief that might result from appointments dictated by the city machine. It has been feared that Mahon's insistent support of Gorman would be construed as entitling the city boss to control at the two points which touch the vitals of ring rule—police and liquor license administration. Of this matter Mr. Gorman says:

"In the selection of boards, like, for example, the liquor license board of Baltimore city, I shall not hesitate, regardless of political pressure, to retain men who have demonstrated their independence and superior fitness, and I shall appoint no man to any board or any office whose pledges to me and whose standing in the community are not a guarantee that politics will not enter into the performance of his duties, and the whole state shall know why I appoint him. I may say also that if I am elected I propose to remove the police of Baltimore still further from the possibility of political influence than they stand today. I think that every policeman ought to understand that he has nothing to think of except the performance of his duty. Any pull or influence is demoralizing and degrading, and should be gotten rid of root and branch."

That is pretty straight talk, but it might be considered a glittering generality without the declaration in the preceding paragraph and the one which follows—declarations that would make it impossible for Mr. Gorman to put in the kind of "good men who do bad things" without being thereafter obliged to wear the brand of arrant hypocrisy. As to the personnel of the police board he says:

"It will be my endeavor to put men on the police board who not only are in sympathy with this idea, but whose views are known and whose names will be a guarantee of the strictest non-political administration."

This declaration makes it impossible for Mr. Gorman to appoint complacent respectables without being caught at it.

Mr. Gorman then goes on to justify the policy he enunciates on party grounds in this clear and forceful language:

"There is no possible good to the democratic party in any connection between politics and two important branches of the public service like the police and excise boards. It cannot help, it can only injure the democratic party to interfere in the remotest way with the machinery of law and order. The people of Baltimore have shown over and over again that they will not tolerate such interference."

And, finally, the democratic nominee thus submits himself to public cross-examination further to check and guarantee the sincerity of his purposes in the matter of appointments:

"I have tried to treat this subject with the utmost clearness and frankness, and I hold myself ready at all times specifically and categorically to give public assurance of my purposes with regard to appointments in Baltimore city."

We are obliged in all fairness to say that the most independent democrat in Maryland could go no further.

EMBEZZLEMENT CHARGE AGAINST ROAD CASHIER

Mobile, Ala., September 26.—Austin Leopold Bodden, prominent socially, and for the past two years up to July 6 cashier of the freight department of the New Orleans, Mobile and Chicago railroad, was arrested here last night on the charge of embezzlement. The warrant was sworn out by H. C. Toulmin, agent of the company, who alleges that he has converted to his own use the sum of $1,800. Examiners of a bonding company had been in this city a month examining the books and discovered the shortage. Bodden denies the charge against him. He failed to make a $2,000 bond for his appearance and is locked up in the county jail.

TWO CRACK COMPANIES COMING FROM ALABAMA

Two of Best Known Organizations in South Will Take Part in Dedication.

That two of the best known military organizations in Alabama will be here to take part in the unveiling exercises of the Gate City Guard is now assured.

A representative of these two organizations, the Mobile Rifles and the Mobile Cadets, both of the Gulf City, left Atlanta Tuesday morning after a day spent here in making arrangements for the quartering and feeding of his men while here. He stated that from the present outlook both companies will come with almost their full quota, which will give Mobile at least 100 men in the big parade. They will be joined here by the two crack companies from Montgomery, which will give Alabama a battalion.

Than the Mobile Rifles and the Mobile Cadets there are few better known organizations in the entire south. Twenty years ago the Mobile Rifles was the best drilled company of soldiers in the United States and possibly in the world. This organization won more than a half dozen competitive drills in which were entered companies from all sections of the country. This was not just one year, either, but for five or six consecutive years, this company went into the national drill matches that were then in vogue and were never as bad as second.

CAR COMPANY SETTLES SPARTANBURG STRIKE

Men Re-employed as Individuals and Allowed to Join Societies.

Spartanburg, S. C., September 26.—Accepting the proposition made by the street railway company, the locked-out car men are this morning submitting applications for their former positions, which will be restored to them. The company agreed to re-employ the men as individuals and not as a unit, and consented to their belonging "to as many societies" as they pleased.

This proposition was submitted at a late hour last night, and at the meeting of the union this morning they decided to go back to work under such conditions. The company does not attempt, as the men claim, to usurp their rights as citizens by preventing union affiliation. There has been no disorder whatsoever today, and cars are in operation as usual.

LIQUOR SELLER PLEADS FOR EXECUTIVE PARDON

W. J. Braswell, of Houston County, Seeking Clemency.

Governor Smith yesterday heard argument for and against the application for clemency filed by W. J. Braswell, convicted in Houston county of selling liquor and sentenced to pay a fine of $200 and spend thirty days in jail.

Braswell's application has to do with the jail sentence which he asks Governor Smith to remove. He was represented by his brother and several of his friends from Fort Valley. The application was contested by Solicitor R. E. Brown and several representatives of the Law and Order League of Fort Valley.

It appeared that Braswell was convicted with two others, the other two, however, receiving a fine with no jail sentence. For this reason it was claimed in behalf of Braswell he should have the sentence removed.

It was argued on the other hand that the other two men had promised the Law and Order League to observe the law in future and requested and secured the aid of the league in obtaining leniency from the presiding judge. Braswell, it was said, declined to make any such promise to the league, preferring to let his case rest on its merits.

It is probable the governor will announce a decision Wednesday.

CITY NEWS

Petition in Bankruptcy.—A voluntary petition in bankruptcy was filed with the clerk of the federal court yesterday by F. S. Cox, of Smyrna, Cobb county. The petitioner, a merchandise broker, places his liabilities at $3,793.65 with assets of $9,600. In his assets is a life insurance policy for $8,000, made in favor of his wife.

Injured in Wreck.—Although her name has not appeared in the list published, Mrs. F. M. Digby, 260 Glenn-wood avenue, was one of those injured when the street car overturned on Woodward avenue Sunday night. Mrs. Digby was immediately taken to her home, where physicians have been attending her. It is stated that she was severely bruised, but that the physicians have not been able to ascertain the extent of her injuries.

A Timid Burglar.—A timid burglar last night chose the dinner hour to enter the home of Otto J. Sala, 545 West Peachtree street, and then after he had safely secured entrance to the basement was afraid to go through the rest of the house. Only a quantity of clothes was taken and the loss is small. A window near the ground was broken to get into the basement and the burglary was discovered about an hour later.

Holmes Institute Opened.—The Holmes institute, of which B. R. Holmes is principal, opened last Tuesday morning with the largest attendance in the history of the institution. All the departments were represented. Dressmaking, printing, tailoring, laundrying and cooking, including the English and normal departments. The school is established for the benefit of the people who are not able to buy books and pay tuition. There is a night school for the benefit of the people who work in the day and are not able to attend day school. All students are required to learn some trade aside from the regular course.

PROMINENT PASTORS PRAISE THE MOVEMENT

Committee of 100 on Men and Religion Forward Movement to Be Named Soon.

A most enthusiastic meeting in the interest of the Men and Religion Forward Movement was held last night in the assembly hall of the Y. M. C. A. building. Speeches were delievered by prominent clergymen and laymen and prospects outlined for beginning the campaign.

The meeting was presided over by ex-Governor Northen, who made a short talk. The speakers were Rev. Dunbar Ogden, J. C. Logan, Dr. P. H. Mell, Dr. Junius W. Millard, Rev. John E. White and Rev. M. J. Cofer. An audience of about 150 was in attendance, manifesting great interest in the movement. A standing vote showed that every one present gave his indorsement and pledge of support to the proposed campaign.

The committee on nominating the officers for the committee of 100, which will conduct the movement, was given further time for its selections. Another meeting will be held in the Y. M. C. A. building next Tuesday night, preparatory to a mass meeting to be held in either the Wesley Memorial church or the Broughton Tabernacle.

Fanatic Commits Suicide.

Live Oak, Fla., September 26.—Ben Hines, a stranger, said to be unbalanced on account of his religion, deliberately laid down in front of a train near here today and was instantly killed. The engineer, on making a curve, sighted Hines walking down the track when, suddenly, the latter turned and, after wavering for a second, prepared for his death.

CIGAR MAKERS VERGE ON STRIKE

15,000 Employees in Tampa Factories Demand Their Usual Free Smokers.

Tampa, Fla., September 26.—As a result of the decision of the internal revenue department to enforce the law requiring duty on all manufactured cigars, whether consumed in a factory or elsewhere, Tampa is again threatened with a disastrous strike of its 15,000 cigarmakers tomorrow.

The effect of the decision of the revenue department has been to discontinue a practice in the local factories, which is as old as the clear Havana cigar manufacturing business itself, the giving of smokers to the workmen.

Notices have been posted in all of the factories notifying employees that they will take cigars from their work benches at their own risk. These notices have been construed by the workmen as meaning that the manufacturers have been responsible for the enforcement of the law enacted in 1864.

A meeting of the joint advisory board of the five local unions was held tonight, but members of the board declined to give out any information as to the decision reached. From unofficial sources it was announced that all of the workmen will be called out tomorrow pending some agreement with the manufacturers whereby the workmen will either be allowed to have the usual number of smokers or a raise in the wage scale equivalent to the amount of the smokers usually allowed each man.

As a result of the dissatisfaction at the posted notices between 800 and 1,000 men left their benches today. They were from the factories of Rey, Strauss & Co., Esberg-Gunst Company, E. J. Stachieberg & Co., F. Lozane Sons & Co. and Val M. Antuono. The men remained out but a few hours at the latter factory, returning to work after it had been explained to them that the manufacturers were not responsible for the conditions.

Miss Coppege Badly Hurt.

Griffin, Ga., September 26.—(Special.) G. J. Coppedge and his eldest daughter, Miss Jennie Blithe Coppedge, were more seriously injured in the street car wreck in Atlanta Sunday night than was reported in the state papers. Miss Coppedge received terrible bruises in the head and face, and for a time it was thought she would not live till he reached Griffin. She is lying seriously ill at her home in this city, and the doctors state that it will be some time before it can be determined whether she received internal injuries. Mr. Coppedge had his left shoulder dislocated, his cheek bone broken and was fearfully bruised in the head and face.

Tatum-Whitehead.

Cedartown, Ga., September 26.—(Special.)—Miss Lula, the daughter of Rev. and Mrs. R. P. Tatum, was married to Mr. A. J. Whitehead this morning at 8:30 oclock at the home of the bride's parents near this city. Dr. C. K. Henderson, of Lafayette, Ga., performed the ceremony in the presence of a few friends and relatives of the bride and groom. The young couple left on the morning train for a wedding trip.

Hand Mangled in Gin.

Cedartown, Ga., September 26.—(Special.)—Clarence Cleveland, the son of W. O. Cleveland, of Lime Branch, in this county, and owner of a gin and a prosperous farmer, had his hand and arm badly mangled in a gin accident, which happened at his father's gin.

PLEDGE SUPPORT TO JOE BROWN

Former Governor's Announcement Hailed With Pleasure in Many Sections.

Gainesville, Ga., September 26.—(Special.) — Announcement of Hon. Joseph M. Brown that he would be a candidate for governor in the forthcoming primary was received with much pleasure by his friends and supporters in Hall county. In addition to these friends, many who formerly opposed him, have signified their intention of giving the Cobb county statesman their hearty support in the present race. In his first campaign Hall county went for Governor Brown by a handsome majority, and in the last campaign he lost it by a narrow margin.

His friends and supporters have already begun preparations to organize a Hall County Joe Brown Club, and intend to see that he carries the county this time by a larger majority than was given him in his first race. It is remarkable to find so many of his former opponents pledging him their hearty support this time, and at this time it appears that the opposition to him in this race is going to be remarkably small. Former Governor Brown has hundreds of sincere and loyal friends in northeast Georgia, and they are going to be found fighting for him until the last ballot is counted in the approaching primary.

Strong Support In Haralson.

Bremen, Ga., September 26.—(Special.)—Hon. Joseph M. Brown's recent announcement that he will be in the race for governor has caused enthusiasm in the former governor's behalf, and he will receive a much stronger support in this, Haralson county, than in any former race. This county has always been in the Brown column, and his friends are confident that he will carry it by even a greater majority than ever before.

Many Added Supporters.

LaGrange, Ga., September 26.—(Special.)—Since the announcement that Hon. Joseph M. Brown would enter the race for governor to fill the unexpired term of Governor Hoke Smith, the local adherents of former Governor Brown have rallied to his standard and a great many others who in the last fight were against Brown are for him this year. Signers are being received to a petition for a Brown club in this city by Editor J. B. Daniel, of The Graphic. It is expected that the club membership will soon exceed the one hundred mark, as enthusiasm for the former governor is largely on the increase. Headquarters are to be arranged for the Brown supporters in the county courthouse for the time being, and meetings will later be held. It is now expected that sufficient pressure will be brought to bear upon Governor Brown to bring him to this city for a speech during the next few months.

Griffin, Ga., September 26.—(Special.) The candidacy of Joseph M. Brown has been enthusiastically received by the friends of the former governor in this county, which gave him a large majority in the first race that he made for governor. So far no clubs have been organized, but it is believed that his friends will get together in a short time and give him their enthusiastic support.

KILLED AND INJURED IN AUTOMOBILE CRASH

Roanoke, Va., September 20.—In an automobile smash near Buchanan, Va., this afternoon a young man named Richardson, of New York city, was killed, and one of two brothers, Pafnke, of Thirty-second street, New York city, had his right arm crushed.

The Pafnke brothers were traveling south in the machine owned by their father, and met Richardson, an old schoolmate, while on the road. Traveling in a Thomas 6-cylinder, the party reached a point near Purgatory. Owing to a sharp curve in the road, a large maple tree came into view and appeared to be in the center of the thoroughfare. Young Pafnke steered out of its way and carried the machine over an embankment.

To Oppose Hobson.

Montgomery, Ala., September 26.—(Special.)—Judge W. W. Brandon, ex-state auditor and ex-adjutant general, as a possible candidate against Richmond Pearson Hobson for congressman of the sixth Alabama district, is information which has been brought to the capitol by some of the sixth district politicians. According to what can be gathered, an immense pressure is being brought to bear upon General Brandon to have him enter the arena, the political enemies of Congressman Hobson being of the opinion that the Tuscaloosa probate judge can make a better winning fight than any ther man in the district.

LaGrange Chamber Dines.

LaGrange, Ga., September 26.—(Special.)—The first annual banquet of the chamber of commerce was held Tuesday night at the Elks' Club, and 150 members and friends were present. President Wylie A. Reeves, of the chamber, was toastmaster, and the following list of speakers responded: Judge F. M. Longley, Professor J. E. Ricketson, Dr. F. M. Ridley, Sr., Hon. J. E. Dunson, Hon. E. R. Bradfield, Jr., Mayor John D. Edmondson and Stephen A. Davis, of Hogansville, and Hon. Philip Lanier, of West Point. A campaign for membership was launched at the banquet, and plans were prepared for the increase of membership to 200 by November 1. The secretary reported a total of 129 at present. The affair took shape as a "dollar dinner," and it is the intention to repeat it the last week of September each year.

Somnambulist's Bad Fall.

Cedartown, Ga., September 26.—(Special.)—Mrs. R. R. Thompson, while, supposedly, walking in her sleep, fell last night from the back porch of her residence on Herbert street and was severely injured. Mrs. Thompson sustained a very bad cut on the head and broke one of her fingers and was badly bruised about the body.

Headache Pills Kill Woman.

Canton, Ill., September 26.—Mrs. Edward Woodcock, of this city, died last night from the effects of pills taken to cure headache. Saturday night she took eight of the pills. She became ill early Sunday morning and soon became unconscious, remaining so until death. She had been subject to headaches and was in the habit of using the pills.

Witness Arrested.

Jacksonville, Fla., September 26.—Sam Terwilleger, of Chicago, who is accused of contempt of court for failure to appear as a witness in the bankruptcy case of the M. A. Darrach Piano Company, has been arrested here upon an order issued by United States Judge Carpenter. He will be returned to Chicago.

CHIGAGO AUTO EXPERT PRAISES GEORGIA ROADS AS BEST IN SOUTH

J. E. C. EDSALL,
Southern sales agent for the Staver-Chicago car, who completed run from Chicago to Atlanta Tuesday.

"Georgia roads are the best I have found in the south, and I ascribe their fine condition largely to the work done by The Constitution in the good roads movement," said J. E. C. Edsall, brown and healthy, who arrived in Atlanta yesterday morning in his Staver-Chicago "40," completing a run of 2,500 miles, made during a month's tour between Chicago and Atlanta.

Mr. Edsall is not a stranger in Georgia, nor is he unfamiliar with the roads of this state, as well as those of other sections of the south, for it was he who accompanied Frank Weldon in the 1910 scout around the state prior to the 'Round-the-State Tour. In this way he became thoroughly familiar with the highways of Georgia, and is thus in much better position to compare its roads to other highways.

"I left Chicago nearly a month ago," said Mr. Edsall, in speaking of his trip, "and have just idled along. I had accepted the southern sale agency for the Staver-Chicago car, a new arrivals in the southern motor car market, and decided to come down in the car which I will use for demonstrations in Atlanta. Leaving Chicago at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, I arrived at Gary in a short time, and from there to Hammond, Ind. Though it was late, I decided to complete the trip to Indianapolis, and made that city at 7 o'clock, after riding all night.

"I left Indianapolis at 9 o'clock, two hours after I had arrived, and got to Cincinnati, completing the trip from Chicago to Cincinnati in about twenty hours of actual running time.

"When I left Cincinnati, after a stay of several days, and got over into Kentucky, the roads began getting bad. I went by way of Lexington to Louisville, and from Louisville I started for Nashville, Tenn. The Tennessee roads are undoubtedly the limit. Nowhere, except in a few rare spots, did I find even decent roadways. And in most cases they are little more than mountain trails.

"From Nashville I went to Huntsville, Ala., by way of Shelbyville. The roads continued to be rotten, but were worked and promised to be in fine condition some day. I went to Chattanooga from Huntsville, passing through Gurley and Scottsboro. The roads through Woodville and Painted Rock were the worst I have ever seen, being little better than beds of streams in a rocky country.

"When I approached the Georgia line after leaving Chattanooga, however, I could distinguish a difference, and when I crossed the line it was as though I had stepped from Tennessee into Illinois. The Georgia roads are the best ever, and I doubt if any southern state can beat them."

Mr. Edsall will establish agencies for his car and make his headquarters in Atlanta. He expects to make many more trips over Georgia roads, however, and feels that he can do so without taking along a bunch of extra tires.

CHARTER ADVOCATES ARE HARASSED BY ATTORNEY

The new charter fight was dragged into police court yesterday afternoon when outspoken champions of revision were harassed by the defendant's attorney in an effort to prove that they had political motives in what they were testifying. The case was against J. B. Gordon, a well-known West End merchant, who was charged with maintaining a nuisance in that the debris where his store was burned last June is not yet cleaned up. W. S. Dillon represented him.

"The place is full of debris, old rags, charcoal and rain water," testified L. S. Bauknight, a prominent furniture dealer. "We appealed to Chief Jentzen, but nothing was done, and about two weeks later the business men in that neighborhood got up a petition about the matter, which was published in the papers. After that the inspectors came and the case was made."

"You are one of these charter revisionists, are you not?" asked W. S. Dillon, the attorney.

"Yes, sir, I am," came the quick and decisive answer. "I am going to vote against the old system and for revision, for if a change was ever needed in Georgia it is needed here in Atlanta."

Frank Revaen, owner of a large bottling plant near the burned building, was indignant when politics was injected into a court of law and the trial of a case. He caused some amusement when first asked how he stood on the matter, through misunderstanding the question.

"My building is right there, judge, and the odors have been very bad," he explained.

"Which side are you on in this charter fight?" asked Mr. Dillon.

"Right in the rear of the building, where I can smell everything," was the answer. When the question was repeated he answered with some heat:

"I absolutely decline to answer any such question; it is entirely irrelevant." The judge upheld him in his refusal.

The witnesses who had been summoned by the defendant were chiefly city employees, including the chief of the sanitary department, an inspector and several policemen. Judge Broyles advised Mr. Gordon to remove the old rags and other stuff that might be rotting, and to clean out the place. He promised to do so, and the case was dismissed.

"We expect to start rebuilding within the next thirty or sixty days, anyway," he said in closing.

SHE GIVES BIRTH TO TWINS BORN THREE DAYS APART

Muskeegon, Mich., September 26.—Mrs. Grant Devore, of Mooreland, a village near here, has given birth to twins, the babies being born three days apart. One child is exactly 73 hours older than the other. Physicians say the case is almost without parallel in medical history.

PREACHER IS INDICTED ON GIRL'S SERIOUS CHARGE

Accuser Says Padgett Compelled Her to Leave North Carolina Home With Him.

The Fulton county grand jury paid little attention to the "spiritual advisement" of Rev. B. L. Padgett, "holiness" preacher, yesterday, but indicted him on two counts.

Sixteen-year-old Carrie Stockton, of Kings Mountain, N. C., was the principal witness in the case against Padgett, and it was chiefly on her story that the indictments were returned. The preacher and the girl were arrested together at the Palace hotel, in this city, several months ago. At the hotel they were registered as uncle and niece.

N. F. McMillan, attorney for the girl's father, whose home is in Kings Mountain, was bitter in speaking of Padgett, saying that he had not only ran away with the Stockton girl, but had also disrupted his flock in Kings Mountain by affairs with other women.

According to the story told by the girl, Padgett forced her to leave home, threatening her with death if she revealed anything, and made a tour of South Carolina, finally coming to Atlanta, where they were arrested after residing at three hotels in six days.

Mrs. E. A. Penniman, Brunswick

Brunswick, Ga., September 26.—Special.)—Mrs. Helen Penniman, wife of E. A. Penniman, of this city, died at her residence here today after a short illness. She was 64 years of age, and had lived in this city since childhood. Before her marriage to Mr. Penniman she was Miss Helen Woodbridge, daughter of the late Dr. Woodbridge, well known throughout Georgia. She is survived by her husband. Other near relatives are R. W. Thiet, of Savannah, and Charles Thiet, of Springfield. The funeral will occur tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock from the residence. The interment will be in Oak Grove cemetery.

Moving to Waycross.

Waycross, Ga., September 26.—(Special.)—Shipping orders were placed today for household goods for twelve families living in Indiana, Illinois, Ohio and Iowa, all of whom become Ware residents within two weeks. The parties who are planning to move purchased farms in this county last year, and after coming down this summer have completed their arrangements for locating on their farms. This is looked upon as the advance guard of a heavy movement of home-seekers to Ware this winter, others having given statements of similar plans.

SHERIFF AND ATTORNEY LECTURED FOR FIGHTING

Fitzgerald, Ga., September 26.—(Special.)—When Attorney Charles B. Teal and Deputy Sheriff Barden, who were arrested Monday for fighting, appeared before Mayor Drew W. Paulk they were given a fatherly lecture on the foolishness of bodily combat, and assessed a fine of $5 each, which was suspended during future good behavior. In the case before Justice A. A. Harney, Barden, arrested for assault, waived examination and demanded indictment by the grand jury.

The people on Grant street were entertained yesterday by a fight between a deputy sheriff and one of our lawyers. Some time ago Charles Teal gave Deputy Sheriff Ben Barden the papers to make a levy on some property, but the deputy refused to serve them, and the colonel obtained a rule of court compelling him to make the levy. This morning Barden waylaid the colonel in the lobby of the Garbutt-Donovan building and attacked him with curses and fists, while the colonel choked him in return. They were pulled apart by bystanders, but Barden still was not satisfied, and tried it again, with similar results.

Both were arrested for fighting. Colonel Teal began impeachment proceedings against the deputy, and says he will have him removed.

ONLY SMALL SHORTAGE RESULTED FROM SPREE

Southern Express Officials Say Loss Caused by Radford Only $15.

Savannah, Ga., September 26.—(Special.)—Characterizing the reports sent out from Waycross yesterday about the actions of Express Messenger G. R. Radford in tearing up large bunches of greenbacks as highly-colored and sensational officials in Savannah, connected with the office of the general superintendent of the Southern Express system today declared their official reports of the occurrence include only a shortage of $15.

It is further stated that the greatest amount carried in the car on the Atlantic Coast Line train to Waycross was not more than $3,000. After Radford's tirade and a careful check had been made on the bullion of currency, a shortage of $15 was all to be found. That Messenger Radford is now out of a job with the express company is assured, and it is probable the company will prosecute him for the shortage. Officials of the company state that Radford was simply drunk and probably did not intend to make any steal from the funds in his possession. The several dollars missing were lost from the car in the excitement that attended the spree.

Radford had been connected with the express company for a couple of years, but had only recently been put on the run to Waycross. He will be returned to Blackshear to answer to the charge of resisting arrest.

MICHAEL M. EASON DIES.

Savannah Citizen Was Well Known in Traveling Circles.

Savannah, Ga., September 26.—(Special.)—Michael M. Eason, for a quarter of a century a traveling salesman for George W. Tiedeman, died at his home here after an illness of a year with paralysis.

Born in Tattnall county seventy years ago, Mr. Eason was well known in this section of the state. He came to Savannah to live about forty years ago, and for twenty-five years traveled this section for Mr. Tiedeman. Mr. Eason enjoyed a very wide acquaintance throughout Georgia. He served in the confederacy during the civil war, and was a member of McLaw's camp of Confederate Veterans. Mr. Eason is survived by five daughters and a number of grandchildren. His daughters are: Mrs. G. E. Tyson, Mrs. J. H. Estill, Mrs. L. K. Rawls, Mrs. M. M Mahoney and Mrs H. D. Spinks, of Atlanta.

FIRST BAPTIST SUNDAY SCHOOL BEGINS BIG RALLY

Special Workers Here to Direct Work Which Will Start Tonight.

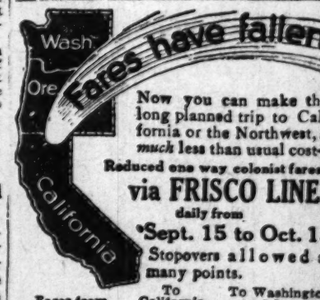

Under the leadership of Messrs. Arthur Flake, of the Sunday school board, of Nashville, and George W. Andrews, a great forward movement will be undertaken by the First Baptist Sunday school.

There will be a rally of the Sunday school forces on Wednesday night at the church. Mr. Flake will be present and address the workers.

The plan contemplates taking a religious census on Thursday, and the grading and organizing the school, on a department basis Sunday.

Mr. John M. Green and Miss Evelyn Orme compose the committee to enroll the workers.

Cook-Thomas.

Miss Annie Cook and Mr. John J. Thomas were married at the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. C. C. Carter, 75 West Harris street, Sunday evening at 8 o'clock, Rev. Johnson officiating. The parlor and dining rooms were decorated in trailing ivy, ferns and golden-rod. After the ceremony and congratulations delicious refreshments were served and flashlight pictures were taken in the dining room. The table had for its centerpiece an effective arrangement of ferns and lilies with ivy drooping from the chandelier. The bride wore a pretty dress of steel gray silk trimmed in applique and net. Her bouquet was white rosebuds and asparagus fern tied with tulle.

The hostess wore a becoming lingerie gown. The guests included Misses Osie Thomas, Clyde Brown, Mattie Harris, Glenis Austin, Elise Austin, Masters Floy Graves, Loraine Cook, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Graves, Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Cook, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Carter, Mr. and Mrs. G. J. Lawhon, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Godby, Mrs. Hodges, Mrs. Workoff, Mr. John George, Mr. J. A. Cook, Mr. Charles Austin.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas will be at home to their many friends at 25 Oliver street till November 1, when they will leave for Florida.

Spend-the-Day Party.

Mrs. Thomas H. Stewart entertained a few friends Friday at a spend-the-day party at her pretty home in West End. The house was decorated with red cannas, golden-rod, and the house plants. At 1:30 a delightful dinner was served. The afternoon was spent in pleasant conversation and each guest had her fancy work along. Those invited to enjoy Mrs. Stewart's hospitality were Mr. Frank M. Brotherton, Mrs. W. P. Anderson, Mrs. E. R. Phillip.

Thaxton-Pierce.

Ben Hill, Ga., September 26.—(Special.)—An interesting event of the past week was the marriage of Miss Dovie Thaxton to Mr. John Pierce, which took place quietly at the home of the bride's parents in the presence of the immediate family and a few friends. The ceremony was performed by Judge B. P. Suttles.

Miss Thaxton, who is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Thaxton, is a charming young woman and has a host of friends.

Mr. Pierce is a well-known man of Ben Hill.

Mr. and Mrs. Pierce went north on their bridal tour and will be at home to their friends at their residence in Ben Hill, Ga., after this week.

Ozburn-Branyon.

A beautiful event of the past week was the wedding of Miss Pauline Ozburn to Mr. Bemis Olin Branyon, which occurred at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Ozburn. The parlor where the ceremony was performed was decorated with handsome palms and cut flowers. Green and yellow candles were used throughout the house. The bridal party stood before an improvised altar of wistaria and smilax with palms and ferns.

The bridal party entered to the strains of Mendelssohn's "Wedding March," played by Miss Fern Boatman, of Atlanta.

Mrs. Charles L. Bellingrath sang very sweetly "Because," just before the ceremony.

First came the bridesmaids, Miss Katie Stell Hollingsworth, of Atlanta, and Miss Ruth Brisendine, of Covington, who were handsomely gowned in pink silk, with silver trimmings, with gloves and slippers to match. They carried large bouuets of golden-rod and fern tied with green tulle.

Next came the matron of honor, Mrs. J. L. Smith, of Atlanta, who looked lovely in cream voile over blue silk, and carried a bouquet of golden-rod and ferns tied with green tulle.

The bride entered with her father and was met at the altar by the groom and his best man, Mr. Will Stafford, of Clarkston, Ga.

The bride was lovely in a light tan tailored suit with hat, gloves and shoes to match. Her hat was of velvet, with plumes.

Her bouquet was of brides roses, tied with white ribbon. The ring ceremony, which was very sweet and impressive, was performed by Rev. J. W. Ham, of Atlanta.

A reception followed the ceremony. The bride's table had for its decoration a tall vase of cut flowers which rested on a large mirror. Candelabras holding green and yellow tapers were placed at the corners of the table. Green and yellow tulle was suspended from the chandelier, and tied at each corner of the table. The ices and cakes were in yellow and green.

Punch was served by Miss Willis Smith, of Dalton, who was gowned in pink silk with lace.

Mr. and Mrs. Branyon left on a bridal tour to Asheville, N. C., and other points of interest. After October 1 they will be at home to their friends in Clarkston, Ga.

Buffet Supper for Bridal Party.

Mr. and Mrs. William M. Terry entertained very delightfully last evening at a buffet supper at their home for the Terry-Ison wedding party after the rehearsal for the wedding. The house was prettily decorated with palms and ferns and autumn flowers.

Mrs. Terry was gowned in black satin, trimmed in chantilly lace. Miss Terry wore a pink chiffon gown, over pink satin, with pearl embroidery.

The guests will include besides the bridal party the members of the two families. Those present were Misses Lebie Ewing, Willie May Blair, Annie Ison, Mrs. Luther Carleton McKinney, Miss Sarah Gowers, Miss Thelma Ewing, Miss Elizabeth King of Montgomery, Miss Elizabeth Cain of Montgomery, Mr. Ernest Travis, Mr. Montgomery Ison, Mr. A. Cooledge, Mr. and Mrs. William Ison, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ison, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Ison, Mr. Robert Dixon, Miss Winnie Ison, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Ewing, Mr. and Mrs. Emory Quarles, Miss Mary Quarles, Mrs. Gower, Mrs. Cain of Montgomery and Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Terry.

Restaurant Opens.

The Joseph Habersham chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, has opened the store directly opposite the Aragon hotel, and on Wednesday, September 26, will serve a delicious menu to the public. The yearly restaurants of this chapter have become a factor in the social and public life of our city, as business men, shoppers and congenial parties are served promptly, and with the hospitality that always adds charm to the affairs of the Joseph Habersham chapter. Mrs. Spencer Atkinson, regent, and her associates have as their object the erection of a chapter house and extend a cordial invitation to the public to assist them by patronizing the restaurant Wednesday. The following committee of charming matrons and debutantes will receive: Mrs. Lanier, Henry B. Scott, Henry Collier, W. F. Dykes, John Meek Stallings, Albert Akers, Howard Calloway, J. O. Parmelee, Misses Mary Virginia Harrison, Adrienne Battey, Helen and Mary Hawkins, Ruth Northen, Lula Dean Jones, Annie Lee McKenzie, Mary Traylor, Penelope Clark, Imogene Thorn.

The menu today is fried chicken and rice, creamed potatoes, green corn, tomato aspic, hot rolls, ice cream and cake, coffee.

Dinner, 50 cents, and lunch will be served for 35 cents.

To Miss Davies.

Miss Maggie Foote will entertain this evening in compliment to Miss Lillian Davies, an attractive bride-to-be, inviting to meet her the members of a bridge club.

Graves-Reeves.

A beautiful wedding in Decatur last night was that of Miss Sarah Graves, and Mr. John B. Reeves, Jr., which took place at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. H. L. Graves.

The ceremony scene was an impressive one, witnessed only by the immediate families. Rev. W. W. Memminger, of All Saints' church, officiated.

Mrs. William J. Murray, of Columbia, S. C., was matron of honor, and the bridesmaids was Misses Katherine and Blanche Thompson, of Union, S. C.; Miss Etta Brand, of Wilmington; Miss Maury Lee Cowles, Miss Eliza Candler and Miss Rebecca Candler.

Miss Nancy Clark, of Brevard, N. C., was maid of honor, and Mr. Dick Reeves, of Charleston, S. C., was his brother's best man.

The bride, who is a lovely young woman, popular in the social life of Decatur and with many friends in Atlanta, was gowned in white satin and point lace, and her bouquet was of lillies of the valley.

The matron of honor wore white chiffon and she held an armful of white chrysanthemums. The bridesmaids wore yellow chiffon and their flowers were yellow chrysanthemums.

Mrs. Graves, the bride's mother, was gowned in black olga crepe and lace, and she was assisted in receiving by her son, Mr. Iverson Graves.

The house was tastefully decorated with palms and yellow and white chrysanthemums, and in the dining room the table was artistic in white and green. The centerpiece was of bride roses, and white tulle was draped from the chandelier and tied in big bows on silver candlesticks and around dishes of white and green bonbons. An orchestra played the wedding music.

Punch was served on the porch, which was garden-like with foliage plants and chrysanthemums.

Miss Elizabeth Mack and Miss Florence Cowles presided there.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. Reeves' parents, Mr. and Mrs. John B. Reeves, of Charleston; Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Bialock, of Columbia, S. C.; Mr. Tristain Hyde, of Charleston.

Mr. and Mrs. Reeves went to the mountains of North Carolina on their wedding trip, and they will make their home in Charleston.

Miss Fort Entertains.

Miss Mildred Fort was hostess yesterday at a very delightful bridge luncheon at her home on Peachtree Place, in honor of Miss Cara Hutchins and Miss Marie Houston, two charming bride-elects of October. Golden-rod and ferns decorated the living room, and pink and white roses were used in the dining room. Miss Eugenia Walker made top score at the game of bridge, the prize being a piece of hand-embroidered lingerie.

The guests of honor were each presented dainty pieces of hand-embroidered lingerie.

After the game a delicious luncheon was served at the card tables.

Miss Houston wore a white serge, with bands of Irish lace, with black velvet hat.

Miss Groover, of Columbus, and Miss Jennie Hutchins both wore white lingerie.

The guests included Miss Marie Houston, Miss Cara Hutchins, Miss Allene Gentry, Miss Elvira Westmoreland, Mrs. Shirley Brooks, Mrs. Lucie Lynn, Miss Louise Watts, Miss Emily Groover of Columbus, Miss Jennie Hutchins, Miss Eugenia Walker, Miss Martha Francis, Miss Aurelia Speer, the guests including only those who will be bridesmaids at the two weddings.

The Reviewers Entertain.

Miss Irene Smillie entertained the Reviewers' Club, of which she is president, yesterday afternoon at a very delightful 5 o'clock tea. Bowls of roses decorated the attractive rooms.

The guests included only the members of the club.

For Miss Pringle.

Miss Penelope Clarke entertained yesterday morning at one table of bridge for Miss Margie Pringle, of Charleston, who is the guest of Miss Katherine Walker.

Mrs. Rodenbaugh entertained informally for Miss Pringle yesterday afternoon.

Haverty-McMichael.

Mr. and Mrs. James Joseph Haverty have issued invitations to the marriage of their daughter, Maud, to Mr. John Clark McMichael, on the evening of Wednesday, October 11, at 9 o'clock, at 372 West Peachtree street.

To Mrs. Murphy.

Miss Evalyn Mason's bridge party Friday afternoon in compliment to Mrs. Clarence Murphy will be an enjoyable affair, assembling her bridge club.

The guests will be: Misses Gladys Cauble, May McMillan, Edna Mooney, Barbara Hunter, Lebie Ewing, Elise Brown, Ruth Blackmon, Mrs. Frank Sands, Mrs. Frank Dabney, Mrs. Carlton McKinney.

To Miss Smith.

Miss Evalyn Mason will give a matinee box party next Monday at the Forsyth in compliment to Miss Elberta Smith, a bride-elect.

To Bridal Party.

Dr. and Mrs. E. G. Ballinger will entertain at dinner next Tuesday evening in compliment to Miss Cara Hutchins and Mr. Kenneth M. Goode, of New York, whose marriage takes place Thursday, the 5th.

The guests will include Dr. and Mrs. Miller B. Hutchins, and the attendants, Miss Jennie Hutchins, Miss Emily Groover, of Columbus; Miss Eugenia Walker, of Savannah; Miss Louise Watts, Mr. P. M. Goode, of Washington, D. C.; Mr. Louis de V. Day, of Newark; Mr. Dan Wilcox, of Hartford; Mr. W. L. Hutchins, of Lawrenceville, these gentlemen arriving in the city Tuesday afternoon.

WANT PREXY TO STAY.

Washington and Lee Students Hope to Retain Dr. Denny.

Lexington, Va., September 26.—Washington and Lee university students, upon learning today of the election of President George U. Denny to the presidency of the University of Alabama, held a mass meeting and adopted resolutions protesting against giving up their president. Then the students, 600 strong, and headed by the university band, paraded the streets of Lexington looking for Dr. Denny. Later Dr. Denny addressed the student body. He made no statement as to whether he would accept the Alabama position, further than to say that the students would know within a week.

Car Men Out on M., K. & T.

Sedalia, Mo., September 26.—Pickets were placed on duty by the striking car men today at all shop points on the Missouri, Kansas and Texas system. This action was taken to prevent the resumption of work in the shops following yesterday's announcement by company officials that men would be hired to fill the places of the 1,500 strikers who walked out Saturday. At union headquarters here today it was announced that strikers throughout the system are remaining firm, and that a settlement was expected within ten days.

Women Delegates Seated.

Evansville, Ind., September 26.—Sweeping aside the ruling of President Samuel Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor, that no women delegates should be seated in conventions of the Indiana Federation, the federation today, after a heated debate, overwhelmingly voted to seat eight women delegates of the Women's Label League.

HOW TO REMOVE FRECKLES

Wilson's Freckle Cream Is Positively Guaranteed to Do the Work.

Letters are constantly being received by the makers of Wilson's Freckle Cream from prominent ladies saying that they have at last discovered how to remove freckles.

Just because you happen to have freckles is no reason why you should always have them.

Mrs. M. J. Rivers wrote from Berne, Switzerland, saying: "If after giving Wilson's Freckle Cream a fair trial it does not cure your skin, there is no remedy for you. I always took the best care of my skin, but freckled dreadfully and could get no remedy until I found Wilson's Freckle Cream."

One jar of Wilson's Freckle Cream will cause your freckles to perceptibly fade, and the second jar will entirely remove them.

The druggist is instructed to return your money to you if it doesn't do just what we claim for it.

Try a jar today. You'll be delighted with its fine effect on your skin. If your druggist cannot supply you, send 50 cents to the Wilson Freckle Cream Co., Charleston, S. C., and they will send you a full size jar.

DIAMOND VALUES

There is a little of the primitive, the barbaric left in all of us, men as well as women, which prompts a love of glitter, of the shiny things of life.

But a man, when he buys Diamonds, is thinking little of their glitter. It is the worth of his money he wants. And our collection of stones is a complete showing of rare values.

THE EARLY FALL AT TATE SPRING.

September and October at Tate Spring are considered the most charming months of the year for recreation and pleasure. The heat of the summer has subsided, but the flowers, ferns and trees are still redolent with life. Tate Spring now wears Nature's most beautiful attire. The mountain air is bracing and invigorating.

The belated vacationist finds diversions galore at Tate Spring, a magnificent eighteen-hole Golf Course, riding, driving, hunting are here to be enjoyed to the fullest extent.

For over fifty years this natural mineral water has been a boon and infallible remedy for sufferers of stomach, liver and kidney troubles, and the cures which Tate Spring's Water has effected has earned for this resort the name of "The Carlsbad of America."

Hundreds of Atlantans visit Tate Spring yearly and they are enthusiastic in behalf of this resort.

The water is for sale in Atlanta by Jacobs' Pharmacy and all druggists. Write for illustrated booklet, Tate Spring Co., Tate Spring, Tenn.

Milk Fresh From These Cup-Winning Cows

Costs Less Than Your Milkman's Milk

Madam—

Here is one of the cows which supplies milk to your neighbors—the people who use Van Camp's.

This cow won the Van Camp cup, which we offered to encourage the breeding of high-grade cows. Milk from such cows, fed in America's best dairying sections, will cost you less than any milk you get from mongrel cows.

And it comes to you pasteurized—free from germs. It is the finest milk which this country produces—the equal of any Swiss milk.

Thick as Cream

Right at the dairy, in a moderate heat, we evaporate two-thirds of the water. This is done in a copper vacuum, in the cleanest sort of way.

We add nothing whatever to the milk. We take out nothing but water. Use it as it comes to you and you have thick cream—28 per cent solids, 8 per cent butter fat. Put back the water and you have fresh, rich milk, just as it came from the cow, save for the sterilization.

Rich Milk Dishes

Van Camp's Milk, used in cooking, produces superlative dishes. The flavor is such as you never get in any milkman's milk. It is the flavor of whole, rich milk.

Milkman's milk separates. Milk dipped from a can is never whole-milk. By the time it gets to your cooking it is rarely more than a half-milk. So many people never know what rich milk dishes whole-milk makes. You will know when you use Van Camp's.

Utterly Germless

This milk is pasteurized, as all milk should be. There's not a germ of any kind in it. Think what it means for all table uses to have milk free from germs.

You can buy, if you wish, a month's supply at a time. Then you have milk and cream for any purpose—all you want at any time. You have none left over—none to waste—for the opened can keeps till you use it up.

And the milk, remember, is the finest milk that high-bred cows produce. It is always the same.

Milk Bills Cut in Two

The curious fact is that this ideal milk costs less than milkman's milk. We save you the cost of the daily delivery, which means about 4 cents per quart. And we save you all the waste. The use of Van Camp's, in most homes, cuts milk bills right in two.

We milk 30,000 cows daily to supply folks who want this milk. And no people in the world get better milk than they get every day.

The 16-oz. can—a full pint of Van Camp's—costs 10 cents. The 6-oz. can costs 5 cents. That's with two-thirds of the water evaporated. Your grocer gets it direct from our nearest dairy.

WOULD TAKE BOOK TO TELL TROUBLES

Carrsville Lady Says She Laid Awake at Night Because of Her Troubles.

Carrsville, Ky.—Mrs. F. E. Cossey, of this town, says: "I had been afflicted for nearly six years, with womanly troubles, and would suffer so much, every month!

It would take a book to tell what I have suffered in that time.

I got so I could not sleep at night, from nervousness. I had four different doctors to treat me, but they could not help.

When I took Cardui, it relived me at once. I can't praise it enough.

I hardly know how to tell you what Cardui has done for me. I have taken about seven bottles, and nothing else I ever took gave me such relief.

All my friends know how bad I was, and how Cardui has helped me in many different ways."

Cardui is made from purely vegetable ingredients, which act particularly on the delicate womanly system, building up health and strength, where it is most needed.

During the past 50 years, it has helped thousands of ladies, afflicted with just such troubles as those from which Mrs. Cossey suffered.

It is therefore a remedy that you can feel confidence in. Its merit is guaranteed by years of success.

Don't experiment. Take Cardui. Begin today.

HORRORS! CRIMINAL RAGTIME FOUND IN WESLEYAN COLLEGE

Macon, Ga., September 26.—(Special.) The discovery of several sheets of ragtime melodies in the music room of Wesleyan college by Dr. Dingley Brown, the director of the conservatory and the man who promulgated the theory that crime is largely attributed to the syncopated tunes, created somewhat of a sensation in the historic female university.

The compositions were confiscated and this morning Mrs. Burks, of the faculty, lectured the young ladies in chapel on the fearfuly debasing and demoralizing effects of ragtime upon musical morals and harmonic systems.

The young ladies were told never to bring ragtime to the college again, especially such "unchaste" compositions as "Kiss Me, My Honey, Kiss Me" and "Put Your Arms Around Me, Honey." Hereafter only the classic strains of Chopin, Rubenstein, Liszt and other musical highbrows will re-echo through the corridors of the venerable institution.

THREE-YEAR-OLD CLAIMS COTTON CHAMPIONSHIP

Little Acworth Miss Picks 50 Pounds in a Single Day.

Acworth, Ga., September 26.—(Special.)—Age being considered, Acworth claims the cotton-picking record.

Little Miss Leo Whitten, the 3-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Whitten, a few miles from Acworth, picked even 50 pounds of cotton in one day, last Friday. She wanted to earn a dime to buy some ribbon to wear the following Sunday.

This is, no doubt, the record for a 3-year-old child, and especially for a girl.

Let Your Savings Bank Be a Diamond

Why? Because it is one of the forms of investment that does not fluctuate. It is the safest and most satisfactory your money can find. It is absolutely sound and secure.

It is one of the forces in society which foster self-respect and respect of others; is better than a savings bank because it pays better interest and is not lying six months before it pays you anything.

It is better than real estate because you can realize more upon them and borrow upon them to a greater degree, and because you can have them with you and they are collateral anywhere in the world.

"Safety for my money" is an absorbing thought always. Among accepted forms of high-class investment none are so near ideal as diamonds. We know of no better investment today. Prices are bound to advance.

Our partial payment plan—one-fifth down, the other in small monthly payments—places a diamond in easy reach of any one earning a regular income.

Our positive cash return and exchange values insure against loss or dissatisfaction.

Our Diamond Book No. 7 outlines fully these attractive plans. Write or call for it.

MAY BE MOVED TO AMERICUS

Kennedy and Childers May Be Transferred From Lee County Jail.

Americus, Ga., September 26.—(Special.)—Robert Kennedy and Mort Childers, one the former admirer, the other the husband of Mrs. Etta Richardson Childers, and both held in Leesburg jail for trial growing out of her tragic death recently, may possibly be transferred to the Americus jail, if suggestions to that end are favorably considered.

The Americus jail possesses all modern sanitary conveniences, and is altogether more comfortable than the little prison in Lee county, where otherwise the two prisoners must languish six weeks until court convenes in November.

JUMPED TO HIS DEATH FROM FREIGHT TRAIN

J. W. Faucette, of Kingston, Struck Embankment and Received Fatal Injuries.

Dalton, Ga., September 26.—(Special.)—While attempting to alight from a fast moving freight train at Kingston, Ga., last evening J. W. Faucette, relief operator for the Western and Atlantic railway, met his death. Mr. Faucette had been working at Rogers, a small station just this side of Kingston, and had boarded a freight which he expected to stop at Kingston, his home, but the train failed to slow down and Mr. Faucette jumped, struck on an embankment and was so badly bruised and injured that he died a few minutes later.

The deceased was a brother-in-law to Lon Murchison, J. W. Chaffin and Tom Chaffin, all of this city. Mr. Faucette worked here last week, relieving Mr. Echols. He had been married but fourteen months and it is reported that his young wife is extremely ill from the shock. The funeral will take place in Kingston, Ga., this afternoon.

BABY GIRL IN RUNAWAY.

Little Miss McKinney Holds Tight and Is Rescued.

Athens, Ga., September 26.—(Special.)—One of the most thrilling rescues of a little child from almost certain death happened last night about dark under the College avenue railroad bridge, when Thomas L. Mitchell, bookkeeper for the Southern Mutual Insurance Company, saved the little 3-year-old girl of Mr. McKinney, a brother of Dr. J. C. McKinney. The child was left in the buggy under the bridge. A switch engine passed over the bridge and the horse started to run. Mr. Mitchell grasped the side of the vehicle. The animal ran with the buggy and the man swinging to it up a steep embankment and was stopped. The wee mite of a child kept her seat in the buggy, clung on for dear life and did not even scream.

ARMED BAND AVENGES ATTACK ON DEPUTY

Negro Who Beat Jack Christian Killed in Battle With Posse.

Clarkesville, Ga., September 26.—(Special.)—News was received here yesterday afternoon of the killing of a desperate negro in the camps of the electric power company, 12 miles north of this place, by some white men.

Special Deputy Sheriff Jack Christian was attacked by a negro and beaten senseless. He fired his pistol once which brought the help which saved his life.

Several white men, among whom was a son of Mr. Christian, went in search of the negro early Sunday. Upon finding him in a house with one other negro man, a lively battle ensued, in which the negro was killed and one of the white men slightly injured. An inquest was held by the coroner and jury from Clarkesville Sunday afternoon. No arrests were made.

ROME MASONS WANT MACON GRAND LODGE

Rome, Ga., September 26.—(Special.) No stone will be left unturned in the campaign that the Masons of Rome will make to secure the removal of the grand lodge headquarters from Macon to Rome. One of the first steps in the campaign was a meeting of the committees from the two lodges held this afternoon at the rooms of the Manufacturers and Merchants' Association.

The committees are composed of some of the most aggressive business men in Rome and they will make things hum in endeavoring to carry out the plans to guarantee the Masons a site for the grand lodge temple and a $30,000 bonus. The matter was discussed at length at the meeting this afternoon and all were enthusiastic over the bright prospects.

Poultry Show at Acworth.

Acworth, Ga., September 26.—(Special.)—The Acworth Poultry Association is making elaborate plans for the big poultry show that will be given by that organization in Acworth soon. The show has a large number of entries of various breeds of chickens, ducks, geese, turkeys, guineas, pigeons, rabbits and other pet stock. The officers of the association are: W. D. Parrish, president; E. D. Patton, vice president; Joe Abbott, secretary and treasurer. The directors are: Loring Brown, of Smyrna; A. P. McLean, T. A. Grogan, R. S. Tippin, A. F. Davenport, E. W. Grogan, C. W. Henson, of Acworth.

Acworth Corn Show.

Acworth, Ga., September 26.—(Special.)—A great deal of interest is being manifested in the big corn show that will be put on in Acworth soon by the Acworth Corn Club. The committees are busy in the field at present, measuring the many prize acres of corn. Five handsome prizes in money will be given by the club for prize acres of corn. President A. P. McLean and Secretary—E. W. Ray are kept busy now assigning committees for the measurement of the various prize acres. The farmers in the vicinity of Acworth are driving a great deal of benefit from the corn club and a great deal of experiences in corn raising is being swapped.

GA. FIREMEN GET WAGE INCREASE

Road Promises Five Per Cent Advance--Trouble Still With Atlanta Terminal.

Augusta, Ga., September 26.—(Special.)—M. Gray, general chairman, representing the Brotherhood of Firemen of the Georgia railroad, made the announcement tonight that the firemen of that road have entered into an agreement with the road whereby about five per cent increase in pay is granted, better working conditions and the number of men they asked for are assured and that both the road and the firemen are well pleased over the situation, which is now very harmonious.

He says the firemen did not get all they asked for, but they got enough to thank the management of the road.

Mr. Gray says there is still some trouble pending with the Atlanta Joint Terminal Company, and it is the purpose of the firemen to fight it out with that company. He left here tonight for south Georgia to get further instructions in the matter from the international vice president, and will represent the firemen in a conference to be had with Superintendent Patterson at an early date.

THEATERS

Al G. Field.
(At the Atlanta.)

The opinion is held by some that minstrelsy, the old entertainment of burnt-cork artists, is passing and that when Al. G. Field, the veteran producer and several lesser lights of the minstrel world have left the stage there will be an end to the old and favored form of theatrical entertainment.

Whatever may be the foundation for the belief that minstrelsy is passing, it is a truth that Al. G. Field, who for more than a decade has held the inside track in the running of minstrelsy events in Dixie, is still producing the old favorite form of entertainment and promises that he will continue to do so for many seasons "if he lives and nothing happens."

Field is now making his twenty-sixth annual tour of the country and is coming this week with his Greater Minstrels who are all primed to tickle the risibles of hundreds of Atlantans as of old.

The Greater Minstrels appear at the Atlanta theater Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights of this week and Saturday matinee.

Keith Vaudeville.
(At the Forsyth.)

More theatergoers are going to try to get in the Forsyth this week than there is room to accomdate all with seats. Many folk are oging to have to stand, and that is one of the real reasons that a good many hundreds of people have been listed for permanent reservations all the season. With due credit to the headline features, Johnny Johnson is about the most popular member of the bill this week. The former member of the Wells musical comedy forces is going to be heard from. His songs are well selected. Marie Russell. "The Empress of Character Song," is another popular favorite with this week's audiences. Miss Russell has the most elaborate wardrobe that has been exhibited this season, and her songs have been well selected. The comedienne is one of the recognized stars of vaudeville. Bertisch, the ideal athlete, has won a proud distinction. He holds that restless first of the week audience until his last feat.

"The Hoosier Schoolmaster."
(At the Lyric.)

Beulah Poynter's dramatization of Edward Eggleston's charming play of Indiana life, "The Hoosier Schoolmaster," is drawing good audiences this week to the Lyric. While melodramatic in spots, the play tells an interesting story and sticks pretty closely to the plot of the book, which is so well known to every reader. The company appearing this week at the Lyric is a capable one and the work of John Bowers, who impersonates Bud Means, and Miss Sadie Steele Smith deserve special mention. Theater goers who enjoy a rural drama well presented should visit the Lyric this week.

START OUT FOR DRIVE, THEN CALL IN POLICE

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Mitchell, of the Majestic hotel, started for a drive yesterday afternoon, but instead went to the police station at Mrs. Mitchell's command, where she entered a complaint against the driver for working a lame horse.

"It's my wife; it's not me," said Mr. Mitchell, good-naturedly, when they entered the chief's office.

Chief Beavers sent Call Officers Brannen and West to examine the animal. They were reinforced by Call Officer Bailey, and the three brought in a verdict of "pitch-shouldered sweeney."

No case was made against the driver, but he was advised to take the horse, which belongs to a local stable, to a veterinary surgeon for treatment.

CAPT. O'FARRELL BURIED.

Crowds Throng Athens Church to Pay Last Tribute.

Athens, Ga., September 26.—(Special.)—For the second time in four days the city has observed the day of mourning for an ex-mayor and former alderman. Friday, Captain J. J. C. McMahan, mayor once and councilman for many years, was buried. Today the funeral of Captain William D. O'Farrell was conducted from the First Methodist church, the largest auditorium of any church in the city, where a crowd pressed the doors to get in.

The funeral was one of the most largely attended seen here in years, attesting the popularity of the deceased. The interment was at Oconee cemetery. Captain O'Farrell lived for Athens and for his friends, and no man is mourned in death more sincerely than he.

WILLIAM WHITE TAKES OWN LIFE

Stricken With Fever, Engineer Sends Bullet Through His Temple.

West Point, Ga., September 26.—(Special.)—William White, superintendent of the Pallivan Construction Company, of Greenville, S. C., who had charge of building the dam across the Chattahoochee river at Langdale, Ala., for the West Point Manufacturing Company, shot himself through the temple this evening at 6 o'clock, dying immediately.

He had been sick with fever for two weeks, and it is supposed he had become despondent over his condition. When his nurse left him he secured a pistol he had hidden and fired the fatal shot.

The deceased had been in charge of several large engineering works, was well thought of in the community and highly esteemed by the company.

His remains will be taken tomorrow to his home in Rock Hill, S. C., for funeral and interment.

FINE WEATHER TO GREET VOTERS ON ELECTION DAY

Clear Skies and Warm Temperature Will Prevail in This Vicinity.

This will be a fine day for holding an election.

The weather man announced yesterday that clear skies will prevail today, and while it may be a little warm, it will not be hot enough for a voter to use it as an excuse for staying away from the polls.

A BACK-HANDED COMPLIMENT.

The mercury yesterday registered at 86 degrees.

The Gopher was in a philosophical mood and this was what he handed the bunch: "Don't ever hit a cripple or try to get fresh with a kid or a resident of the rural districts. You'll get the worst of it every time if you do. Sometimes you get the hot end of the conversation when your intentions are really the best. Now a guy I know who boasts that he was 'bred and born in the briar patch,' and who, according to his own brother, has never quite shaken off the 'village green,' while on a recent visit to a small south Georgia burg tried to be pleasant to an old farmer. He spoke to the old man in the most honeyed tone. The old fellow returned the salute and asked, 'How are you all?' My friend was foolish enough to reply, 'Improving,' whereat the aforesaid agriculturist came to a full stop, looked my friend over with minute care and ejaculated, 'Big room.' Of course the gang heard it all and they are still laughing."

WATKINS IS ELECTED MAYOR OF JACKSON

County Attorney Received 120 Votes to 40 for Dr. Mays.

Jackson, Ga., September 26.—Special.)—In the election for mayor of Jackson for the unexpired term held here today, Colonel W. E. Watkins received 120 votes to 40 for Dr. R. W. Mays.

Both candidates are among the leading citizens of the city. The election passed off quietly, only a small vote being polled. The registration is 250. Dr. Mays was nominated at a mass meeting held last night, his late entrance into the race causing some lively interest. Colonel Watkins is county attorney.

KILLED BY LIGHTNING.

Sandersville, Ga., September 26.—(Special.)—Otto Harris, Jr., aged 14 years, was struck by lightning and instantly killed this afternoon at 4 o'clock. He was returning from the cotton field with his father, where they had been working, and, nearing the house, a stroke of lyightning flashed, striking young Harris, who was a few feet behind his father. They reside 4 miles from Sandersville, and is one of the most prominent families in that section. He is survived by his parents, one sister and brother.

HOSPITAL WILL SAVE MONEY ON MEDICINES

The preliminary report of the medical board of the Grady hospital on the reduction of medical supplies for the institution was made by a committee to the board of trustees yesterday afternoon. Several changes were advised whereby there will be effected a substantial saving. The board offered its heartiest co-operation in the matter, and asked for more time to make a complete report, which was granted.

The report of the superintendent, Dr. W. B. Summerall, was received for the past month. He was instructed to take out insurance for the new motor ambulance.

Big Barn Burns Down.

Marietta, Ga., September 26.—(Special.)—Sunday night, at 11 o'clock, the big barn of Frank Daniel, at Smyrna, was burned, with its contents, there being no insurance on any part of the property. The barn was worth some six or eight hundred dollars, and four horses in it were valued at $1,000. Besides, there were 3,000 bundles of fodder, several tons of hay, a two-horse wagon, two buggies and harness, and a lot of farm tools, and one bale of cotton. Nothing is known of the origin of the fire.

To Honor Nickerson.

Athens, Ga., September 26.—(Special.)—St. Elmo lodge, Knights of Pythias will celebrate its annual banquet on the birthday of its keeper of records and seal, Hon. T. H. Nickerson, known to every Knight in Georgia. October 12 is the date set and there will be a fine program.

HONOR LADIES TALK, TALK, TALK, TILL GEN. DE LONG GAGS THEM

Indianapolis, Ind., September 26.—"Let me tell you, it is no pink tea to organize a female brigade. They talk, talk, talk all night—that is, if you'll let them, and I've just got to eliminate some of this nocturnal conversation."

This comprised the plaint today of Major General deLong, of the Knights and Ladies of Honor, who are encamped on the fair grounds here. The Honor ladies—nearly 1,000 of them—are encamped on their own grounds, some distance from the men's bivouac.

This afternoon Major General deLong was forced to post a notice that there could be no talking in the Honor ladies' camp after taps are sounded at 11 o'clock.

Someone remarked to the major that there is about as much chance of obedience to the order as there might be of finding pati de fot grass on an Eskimo bill of fare.

SECOND BAPTISTS WILL ORDAIN FOUR DEACONS

The Ceremony Will Take Place Tonight at 8 O'Clock.

Four deacons will be ordained at the Second Baptist church this evening at 8 o'clock. They are Judge Beverly D. Evans, of the Georgia supreme court; S. Boykin Turman, Charles A. Smith, A. L. Cuming, of the Mutual Life Insurance Company. The ceremony of ordination will be in charge of the pastor, Dr. John E. White, and a former pastor of the Second Baptist church, Dr. A. T. Spalding, and Dr. H. R. Bernard, auditor of the Georgia Baptist convention. The present board of deacons will attend this service in a body, consisting of A. D. Adair, Sr., Judge John T. Pendleton, Judge George Hillyer, Superintendent M. L. Brittain, Professor A. C. Briscoe, Walker Dunson, Thomas J. Day, Henry Hillyer, William Lowe, M. M. Welch, George S. Lowndes, B. H. Hartsfield, E. H. Thornton, A. W. Malone, Dr. E. L. Connally, Dr. William E. Campbell, James T. Wright.

During the engagement she hopes to make him a good wife; after marriage she hopes he will make her a good husband.

BANK ESTABLISHED BY FARMERS' UNION

Kentucky Organization Plans to Reduce High Cost of Living.

Lexington, Ky., September 26.—Members of the Farmers' Union in Bath county are taking steps to establish a co-operative store and a bank to be capitalized at $35,000. The farmers are enraged at the high cost of living and intend to buy their staples in large quantities to bring down the ordinary purchase prices.

If the movement succeeds it is intimated that promoters will advocate establishment of the plan in all of the southern states where the union is strong.

To Impeach Sheriff.

Montgomery, Ala., September 26.—(Special.)—Instructed by the grand jury of Cullman county to enter impeachemntt proceedings against Sheriff C. W. Bryce on a charge of wilfully and corruptly bargaining away his office, Attorney General Robert C. Brickell is preparing his papers to be filed with the supreme court as soon as that body convenes in November. A certified copy of the grand jury's report recommending the impeachment has been received at the capitol, sent by the clerk of the Cullman county circuit court.

Why We Are For the New Charter

Because every official with authority to do things, and that means every official who will be to blame if things are not done, will be VOTED ON BY ALL THE PEOPLE.

Because the men in charge of the BUSINESS AFFAIRS of the city will be required to GIVE THEIR ENTIRE TIME to the city.

Because there will be a prompt and EFFECTIVE RECALL WHEREBY THE PEOPLE CAN RID THEMSELVES OF AN INCOMPETENT, DISHONEST OR IN ANY MANNER UNSATISFACTORY OFFICIAL.

Because THE DEATH KNELL OF NEPOTISM IN THE CITY GOVERNMENT is forever sounded.

Because every citizen in Atlanta will have the right of appeal from his own or any other citizen's tax assessment, thereby forever SOUNDING THE DEATH KNELL OF THE TAX DODGER.

Because there is provided an absolutely thorough and complete system of CHECKS ON EXPENDITURE OF THE PUBLIC'S MONEY.

Because every citizen of Atlanta will know EXACTLY WHERE TO GO AND WILL GET IMMEDIATE ACTION, whenever he wants something done or has a grievance to make.

Because the letting of city contracts and the purchase of city supplies is REMOVED ABSOLUTELY from the reach of any man connected with the city government.

Because it will be impossible for a candidate for the administrative board to make campaign alliances with special interests whom he can favor if elected, the simple reason being that he runs for the board AND NOT FOR A PARTICULAR DEPARTMENT.

Because we believe, as the Fulton County Medical Society believes, that under the new regime we can GET CREMATORIES BUILT AND THE CITY'S HEALTH PROPERLY PROTECTED.

Because by abolishing the field in which he operates and disbarring from office any candidate who uses him, we believe the WARD-HEELER AND PROFESSIONAL POLITICIAN WILL BECOME EXTINCT IN ATLANTA.

Because, in short, it spells Progress versus Politics; Merit versus Favoritism; Economy versus Waste; Promptness versus Delay; Business Methods versus Political Spoils; and, above all, Responsibility That Cannot be Escaped versus Utter Impossibility to Fix the Blame---That is why, Mr. Atlanta Citizen, we favor the new charter and are going to vote for it tomorrow.

ATHLETICS CINCH FOURTH FLAG

Edited by DICK JEMISON and FUZZY WOODRUFF

FAVORITES LOSE TO OUTSIDERS

Louisville, Ky., September 26.—Long-priced horses were returned winners in five of the six events this afternoon at Churchill Downs, and favorites, as a rule, fared badly. Lack Rose was the only favorite to score. Little Father, carrying light weight and well handled by Steele, proved the best of a strong field in the handicap, the day's feature. Milton B. was a close second, and Angelus, the heavily-played favorite, was third.

Summaries:

FIRST RACE—Maiden fillies, 5½ furlongs: Brig, 112 (Gans), won; Polly D., 110 (Kennedy), second; Bouncing Lass, 122 (Goose), third. Time 1:07 2-5. Princess May, Madam Phelps, Nancy Grater, Grace Mac, Nannie McDee, Almee Farley, Alooha and Syringa ran.

Two-dollar mutuels paid: Brig, $50.60 straight, $21.80 place, $9.30 show; Polly D., $10.20 place, $5.80 show; Bouncing Lass, $11.30 show.

SECOND RACE—Purse $500, 6 furlongs, 3-year-olds and up, selling: King Olympian, 110 (Koerner), won; Delaney, 103 (Turner), second; Veneta Strome, 109 (Taplin), third. Time 1:12 3-5. Golden, Jim Basey, John Griffin II., Louis Reil, Thistlebelle ran.

Two-dollar mutuels paid: King Olympian, $27.70 straight, $8.40 place, $4.30 show; Delaney, $4.30 place, $2.90 show; Veneta Strome, $2.90 show.

WELCOME TO OUR CITY!

BIG SINCLAIR BACK AND TECH SMILES

Ben Sinclair, a guard of last year's Tech varsity, was on the flats Tuesday and Tech is anxiously awaiting his presence on the field in football togs. It is hoped that he will be out as soon as possible, for with Sinclair back at his old position the strength of the team will be increased 25 per cent.

Sinclair would certainly be an all-southern man this year and is needed badly. He is big and husky and there is a scarcity of this kind of material on the field at present. It will be remembered that Sinclair was one of the three men whom Coach Heisman said that he would not swap for Georgia's "Kid" Woodruff.

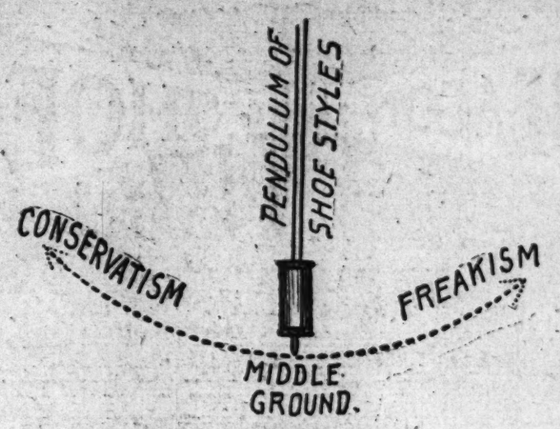

Peggy Johnson, another varsity man, was out for one practice, but has not been on the field since. Tech started out with seven varsity men this year, but it looks as though the team is losing old men instead of gaining them.

Coach Heisman spoke to the students in chapel Monday night and made a strong appeal for more big material. He told the new men not to wait for special invitations, but get busy and come out. He stated that there were lots of little fellows with plenty of pepper and grit, but not as many big, husky ones as formerly.

"Shag" Hubert, a pitcher and also a coming football star, was elected captain of the scrub team. Hubert has been playing great ball for the scrubs as full back and is one of the few men who can go through the varsity for a gain.

Coach Heisman has put the ban on spectators at the flats and only students and those connected with the school will be admitted to the practices in the future.

The regular scrimmage is held every afternoon and Captain Patterson, Leuhermann, Elmer and Cook are playing a great game for the varsity, while Hubert, Clements and Clay are playing well for the scrubs.

For the gentleman of quiet tastes our regular lasts in black and patent, lace and button give the acme of quiet, dressy effects.

For the younger set, not so conservative, but who avoid the extreme or "freakish," our new models in all leathers and new ideas of style. They give infinite satisfaction and comfort.

PERRY ADAIR CUP PLAY SATURDAY

Final plans and dates for the last two golf tournaments to be held over the Atlanta Athletic Club at East Lake have just been announced by the golf committee.

The qualifying round for the Perry Adair trophy will be played on Saturday, the cup to be won three times from scratch.

The sixteen low scores qualify for the first flight. A cup will be awarded to the runner-up and to the winner of as many flights as fill.

In all flights except the first the play is with handicap. First round must be finished October 3, second by October 5, third by October 7. Finals, 36 holes, must be played on October 8.

The T. A. Hammond trophy conditions have been settled. The qualifying round is set for October 7, the sixteen low net scores to qualify in the first flight.

A cup will be awarded to the runner-up and a cup for the winner of as many flights as fill. The first match must be finished October 10, the second October 12, the third October 14 and the finals 36 holes must be played October 15.

GRAND CIRCUIT

Columbus, Ohio, September 26,—Two bad spills, occurring almost simultaneously in the first heat of the 3-year-old trotting division of the horse review futurity, gave the spectators a thrill at the fall meeting of the Columbus Driving Association here today. As a result, Tommy Murphy has a broken rib and Driver Curtis had a narrow escape from injury. Neither horse was hurt. This division of the race was not finished.

In the 2-year-old trotting division of the same race, Princess Todd was made a strong favorite over the field of six others, and won handily in straight heats and good time.

The first race on the card today was the unfinished 2:09 pace, in which three heats had been raced yesterday. Heir-at-Law the First was a big favorite, but My Shady Belle took three straight heats today and this race. In the sixth heat all the horses except My Shady Belle and Heir-at-Law the First were ruled off.

The 2:07 pacing stake proved easy for the favorite, Peter the Second, driven by Valentine. He was never headed and won in straight heats and fast time.

The 2:10 trot found Chatty Direct, Binvolo and Maude Light equal favorites in the pools. The race was unfinished after four heats, in which Creighton landed first twice and Binvolo and Chatty Direct once each.

2:09 pacing, 3 in 5, purse $1,200, three heats raced Monday: My Shady Belle, b. m., by Shadeward (Snow), 2, 6, 5, 1, 1, 1; Heir-at-Law the First, blk. s., by Heir-at-Law (Shackelton), 5, 1, 1, 5, 5, 2; Ella M., blk. m., by Prohono (Todd), 1, 4, 3, 4, 3, ro.; Babe br. g. (Jamison) 4, 3, 2, 2, 2, ro. Dock V., Hal Direct First, Cinnamon, Gold Seal, Alberta, Laurietta, Prince Norbells and Dora J. started. Time, 2:04¾, 2:05½, 2:06¾, 2:05¾, 2:07¼, 2:08 .

BY WAY OF GOOD MORNING

PULLMANS ARE PUNK FOR PIG SKINNING

THERE ARE GOOD THINGS IN COURTS, AFTER ALL

BY FUZZY WOODRUFF

The first football accident of the season has occurred. Howl ye reformers. Let your yelp start now and continue undimmed until the pigskin pastime is reduced to a condition of innocuous desuetude that will make a contest with bean bags look like a gladiatorial combat in its ferocity.

A football fanatic journeying to the stricken field of the sons of Old Ell began to make an end run, while he was somnolent in a Pullman car. The porter missed the tackle and the young athlete hurdled the window and was downed by a cross-tie on the railroad's right of way. His toes, tender little tootsies, too, were terribly scratched by the cinders. Horrors!

Some system should be adopted to prevent this brutality in America's favorite college sport. Pullman pigskinning should be put under the ban immediately. If the collegians insist on making end runs in the domain of the lordly porter and in a car called Calyacthusie, there should be stringent regulations. A new set of rules, something like this should be adopted for the emergency:

(1) Any player dreaming that he is falling from a precipice, when the train is traveling up grade gains ten yards. If he should hit the ground before he wakes up, the ball goes to the opponents with a 25-yard penalty.

(2) Tipping the porter two bits before retiring guarantees the game.

(3) Red lanterns cannot be used for the ball. Always try the conductor's cap first.

(4) When the whistle blows for a crossing it is third down. Unless the player in possession of the ball snores in answer the ball goes over.

(5) Kicking a traveling companion shall be considered a foul. The penalty for such an offense is to consign the offender to an upper berth.

(6) Any player falling from an upper berth while the train is taking a curve at sixty miles an hour is scored a touchdown. If he wakes the entire car, he is given a goal.

These few suggestions are respectfully submitted to Walter Camp, et als.

Some day in the dim and distant future, when we are old or in our graves, when our grandchildren look back with horror into history to the year 1911 and find that in that period the Crackers finished last in the Southern League race, when the name of Ty Cobb is but a memory and the statues of Hans Wagner are crumbling into dust, when the battle of Reno is regarded as ancient as the struggle at Tours, then maybe Jack Johnson and Bombardier Wells will fight for the heavyweight championship of the world. But not until then. For their battle is now being waged in the civil courts of Great Britain.

It took several generations, according to Mr. Dickens, a more or less accurate reporter of the old school, for the English judiciary to decide the case of Jarndyce v. Jarndyce, and when it was decided there was nothing left to the suit except volumes of musty papers and learned decisions to further perplex the lawyers and the judiciary.

Now Jarndyce v. Jarndyce was a simple case, involving but a few thousand pounds, and the case of Johnson v. Wells involves the heavyweight championship of the world. It is altogether likely that when the case is finally decided two decrepit old men, the one looking like Old Black Joe and the other like a veteran of the Immortal Six Hundred, will climb through the ropes, lift their hands feebly and drop dead, and the issue will never have been decided. And it will be one time in history when litigation has served a goodly purpose.

Hurrah for the Lord Chief Justice.

The Athletics have cinched the American League pennant. There is nothing extraordinary in that. Everybody knew that they would cinch it for some weeks past. But it is well that they have. For it proves beyond doubt that class tells in baseball. It affirms that the great national game is far more dependent on skill and generalship than on luck. Last year at the close of the world's series, the experts saw a team become world champions that had not reached the zenith of its efficiency. Its players were young men, good for many seasons to come, good to improve as they gained experience. They could see no baseball combination capable of dislodging them for several years.

The first of the present season saw the Detroit team in the American League, not nearly so formidable as it had been in its championship days, leap into a lead that seemed wellnigh impossible to overcome. They saw the champion Athletics practically left at the post, but there was a long stretch of track ahead.

The Tigers continued to spurt brilliantly, but by this time the Athletics had straightened out and were going at an even gait, traveling as a team of its class should travel. Still the job looked hopeless. The lead seemed too formidable. But class told. Gradually the Tigers slowed and remorselessly the Athletics kept up their even clip. At mid-season, the Athletics had come abreast. The good game Tigers made their last effort. It was a brilliant one and once more they showed the Mackmen their heels. The stout hearts of the Philadelphians did not fail. They resumed the chase, as sternly as if it had just been begun. Once more they looked the Tigers in the eye and then the gallant old pacemaker surrendered. Then, just as evenly as before, the better team drew ahead and two weeks before the season's close, Mack is jogging his entry to the wire with no one in hailing distance.

Luck has been beaten by skill. Daring has succumbed to generalship.

TIGER PROSPECTS NOT SO GLOOMY

By Ward S. Greene.

Sewanee, Tenn., september 26.—(Special.)—In spite of the weather of the last few days, which has been unusually hot for the mountains, a gruelling practice was held Saturday afternoon on Hardee field. The university numbers less than a hundred students this session, and of these half are out every afternoon, while the other half watch from the side lines.

For over thirty minutes varsity and scrubs lined up against each other in a series of hard-fought scrimmages. The varsity numbered as follows: Sligen, right end; McClannahan, right tackle; Stoney, right guard; McCulum, center; Gailor, left guard; Parrish, left tackle; Crockett, left end; Swain, quarter; Parker, right half; Moe, full; Myers, left half. Dexheimer, who has been trying out at a half, hurt his shoulder in practice, and could not net in the game Saturday. The injury was only a slight one, however. Parrish has been used at a half for some time, but looke like a comer as a lineman. One of the heaviest men who has yet donned the moleskin is Ham, who hails from Colorado. He has been playing on the scrubs so far, but is improving daily.

Coach Copa is being assisted in his work by "Chigger" Browne, the star little quarter of last season. Browne is handling the scrubs, and bids fair to turn out a team which will give the varsity all it can handle. Phillips will arrive on the mountain soon, and with these two men to assist Cope, who is himself the best man who ever turned out a Tiger team, the purple yet has a chance to make things gloomy for any other team in Dixie that is counting on the championship.

NEW BEST BALL SCORE OF "65"

A new best ball score for the East Lake golf course in a foursome, was set yesterday afternoon by a foursome composed of G. W. Adair, C. P. King, S. C. Williams and R. S. Jemison.

They turned in a card of 65, making a 32 going out and a 33 coming in. Here is the card:

Out. . . . . 3 4 3 5 2 3 4 4 4—32—
In. . . . . 3 2 4 4 4 4 4 4 4—33—65

BENDER'S BROTHER DIES OF WEAK HEART

Charleston, S. C., September 26.—John C. Bender, who had played as outfielder with teams in the South Atlantic League, dropped dead of heart-failure at Edmundston, Canada, during a baseball game yesterday afternoon, according to a telegram to his widow here today. Bender was a brother of Charles Bender, a noted pitcher with the Philadelphia Americans.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

Cubs Break Even.

Chicago, September 26.—Chicago and Boston broke even in a double-header today, the final games of the year's series, Chicago winning the first game, 10 to 2, and losing the second, 5 to 7. In the first game Ruelbach held the visitors to five scattered hits. Burke and Brown proved easy prey for the locals.

In the second game, Donnelly, of Boston, was master of the situation, allowing the locals but six hits. The Chicagoans used Slapnicka, one of the latest pitching acquisitions. The support behind him was loose and the visitors had little difficulty with his curves.

The second game was featured by the batting of Kirke, who made four hits, including two triples and two doubles, in five times at bat, and of Donlin, who got three hits.

Burns to Meet Winner.

New Orleans, September 26.—Frankie Burns, regarded as ranking next to Johnny Coulon among the bantamweights, has been signed to meet the winner of the Monte Attell-Johnny Daley ten-round bout at the Orleans Athletic Club next Monday night. Burns has begun training at Jersey City.

Billy Papke, one time claimant of the middleweight title, has been given a chance to meet Cyclone Johnny Thompson in a twenty-round go at the Westside Athletic Club on a percentage basis. Manager Tertorich said today that Thompson had accepted, but that no word had yet been received from Papke. The club will insist on the 158-pound limit.

Miss Hotchkiss Defends Title.

Boston, September 26.—Although the courts were wet and a heavy mist was falling, the second day's playing in the annual woman's singles of the Longwood Cricket Club was held today. Miss Hazel Hotchkiss, of Berkeley, Cal., the national champion woman lawn tennis player, defeated Mrs. Harger-Walsch, of Newport, the former title holder. The scores were 6-1, 8-6.

ALABAMA LIKES HER NEW COACH

By H. U. Felbelman.

University, Ala., September 26.—(Special.)—D. V. Graves, the coach of the University of Alabama athletic teams—who is he and where did he come from? These are questions of the day. And by way of explanation be it said that Coach Graves is a 190-pound piece of humanity, rangy, athletic, bouyant in spirit and boyish in his antics. He has won a warm place in the hearts of the Alabama rooters.

One of the reasons for his popularity at this place is the big and healthy athletic record that marks the past of the man whom the press of the middle west and the students of the University of Missouri dubbed "Tubby" Graves. From 1905 to 1909 Coach Graves was a student at the University of Missouri. His playing attracted so much attention that he was the pick for Missouri Valley end in '06, Missouri Valley tackle in '07-'08, and All-Missouri taackle in '07-'08.

He was a valued member of the nine of the University of Missouri in 1907-'08-'09, even adding basket ball to his list in 1908. Yielding to temptation to enter the field of professional baseball, he saw service in the Texas League, the Wisconsin-Illinois, the Western Association, the Eastern Illinois, and the Nebraska State.

In the field of athletic tutoring, Coach Graves has had experience, having coached the Blees Military Academy at Macon, Mo., and having acted as assistant coach at the University of Idaho.

Reticence in opining is a prime and noticeable characteristic of D. V. Graves, and when he gives an opinion he generally means what he says. Here is what he has to say concerning the football situation at this institution:

"I know nothing of southern football, nor how Alabama ranks in comparison. The team here is rather green in the so-called rudiments of the game. We have some big linemen, slow and clumsy, who ought, with lots of practice, to be fair linemen by November. I am certain, however, that we can't win without more team work, which ought to come with experience. The element of luck enters in football in the matter of injuries, and we can expect our share of them. This can affect us considerably. As to our work in the future, I can merely speak for next week, which will be spent in perfecting defense and getting the team in condition."

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Athletics 11, Tigers 5.

Philadelphia, September 26.—The American League championship for 1911 was decided here today when Philadelphia defeated Detroit 11 to 5. It was the fourth time that a Philadelphia team piloted by Conhie Mack has won the pennant in this organization and it was the first time that Philadelphia has won the title in successive seasons. Philadelphia also earned the right to defend the world's championship title which it won last year from the Chicago National League club. Today's game was won by hard hitting. Philadelphia drove Willett off the rubber in three innings and also hit Works' delivery hard. Baker led in the slugging with two home runs and a pair of two-baggers in five times at bat. His total of twelve bases is probably a season record for the major leagues. Both of Baker's home runs cleared the right field wall, it being the first time a batsman ever performed this feat twice in the same game. Crawford led Detroit with a home run and a single, while Bush and Cobb made two singles each.

Batteries—Willett, Works and Stanage; Coombs and Lapp.

Score by innings:

| | R. |
|---|---|
| Detroit | 003 000 002— 5 |
| Philadelphia | 032 001 14x—11 |

Summary—Errors, Gainer 1, Baker 2; two-base hits, Drake, Baker 2, Lapp, Coombs, Oldring; three-base hits, Collins, Derrick; home runs, Baker 2, Crawford; hits, off Willett 6 in 3 innings, off Works, 9 in 5 innings; sacrifice hit, Derrick; sacrifice fly, Delehanty; stolen bases, Crawford, Baker, Murphy; double plays, Bush and Delehanty, Bush, Delehanty and Gainer; left on bases, Detroit 8, Philadelphia 7; bases, on balls, off Willett 1, Works 2, Coombs 2; first on errors, Detroit 2, Philadelphia 1; hit by pitcher, by Coombs (Drake), by Works (Lord); struck out, by Willett 1, by Works 1, by Coombs 6; wild pitch, Works. Time, 1:50. Umpires, Perrine and Dineen.

Sox 5, Yankees 4.

New York, September 26.—After tieing the score in the eighth inning today, New York lost to Chicago in the ninth, 5 to 4. The winning run was scored on Lord's double and McIntyre's single. Errors were responsible for most of the runs on both sides.

Score by innings:

| | R. | H. | E. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Chicago | 110 020 001—5 | 9 | 3 |
| New York | 001 010 020—4 | 9 | 5 |

MERCER WORKING HARD TO IMPROVE

Mercer University, September 26.—(Special.)—Although not many fake plays and forward passes could be tried in the game Saturday against Locust Grove on account of the wet weather, and the defects could not therefore be seen and remedied, Coach Stroud is still working on these as upon the outcome of a hard game may depend.

Only a light practice was indulged in Monday afternoon, consisting of signal punts and such work to loosen up the muscles.

The game Saturday showed in a small degree what the team can do. Of course, what the line can do against a heavier team cannot be seen, but if anything can be judged from the exhibition they put up against Locust Grove there are not many men who will run through them.

The backfield looks especially good and shows speed, strength and team work. The speed, strength and headwork of Foxworth, who has developed a bad case of fever which may keep him out of the game for a good while, is sorely missed. Howell showed up well in his position Saturday, but we cannot afford to lose a single good man.

Larned Will Not Play.

New York, September 26.—Owing to important business, W. A. Larned, one of the members of the American tennis team selected to compete for the Davis international trophy, announced today that it would be impossible for him to make the trip to Australia to play in the international match.

CONVICTS ARE GIVEN FEAST

Citizens of Lickskillet District in Bartow County Act as Hosts.

Woodstock, Ga., September 26—(Special.)—With the permission of the warden, the citizens of Lickskillet district, of Bartow county, have just given the convicts on the county gang who are working in this district the surprise of their lives.

On last Sunday the gang was given a sumptuous banquet in the presence of the citizens of the surrounding country in appreciation of the work being done for good roads. M. A. Gordon talked to the convicts on what they were doing for good roads.

The menu was as follows:

Breads: Biscuits, home-made light-bread, eggbread, etc. Cakes: Assorted cakes, teacakes, droys cakes, jelly rolls, cocoanut cake and pound cake. Custards: Blackberry, apple, egg, potato and lemon. Meats: Fried steak, chicken pie, chicken smothered, chicken baked with oyster dressing. Pickled beets and pickles assorted.

GEORGIA SUBSTITUTES PUSH BALL FOR RUSHES

Athens, Ga., September 26.—(Special.)—There will be no more fierce contests between the freshmen and sophomores at the University of Georgia to hold on one side and prevent on the other the annual banquets of these respective classes. This was decided upon yesterday morning at a session of the 1915 class organization, held after chapel exercises, when it was agreed that instead of the annual banquet rivalry there will be substituted the "push ball contest," which has come into vogue at one or two of the old world institutions. The ball will be 10 or 15 feet in diameter and on a stated day the two lower classes will, instead of a cane rush or a banquet contest, settle their supremacy by the pushball contest on old Herty field.

No Strike on Central.

Savannah, Ga., September 26.—Inquiry at the operating headquarters of the Central of Georgia railway here and at the shops in Macon showed that there was no talk concerning strike in sympathy with the men of the Illinois Central and Yazoo and Mississippi Valley roads. Some uneasiness was felt at first because the Central is under the same management as the Illinois Central.

AUGUSTA NEEDS 500 LABORERS

Development Enterprises Take Hands Wanted to Move the Cotton Crop.

Augusta, Ga., September 26.—(Special)—An extraordinary demand for 500 additional laborers for development and improvement enterprises operating in Augusta at the present time has brought about a remarkable shortage of laborers, and is the direct result of something entirely new in the history of the second largest inland cotton market in the world.

City convicts have been put on "Cotton Row" to handle the movement of cotton through this market and prevent a congestion. Today's receipts went to 7,477 bales and on the yards and at the compresses there were 150 cars to be unloaded, compressed and reloaded before midnight. The customary pay of 3½ cents per bale for laborers handling cotton is, ordinarily, an attractive proposition during the rush of the cotton season, but right now there is not enough labor for it to attract.

Reviewing the situation this afternoon Commissioner of Public Works Winfield compiled an estimate showing that there is at the moment actual demand for 500 more laborers than the normal supply of the city.

ROME WAREHOUSE BURNS.

Rounsaville Building Destroyed With 100 Bales of Cotton.

Rome, Ga., September 26.—(Special.) A fire that started this morning at 2:30 o'clock and burned fiercely until 4 o'clock destroyed a whole section of the Rounsaville warehouse, together with seven carloads of hay and clover and 100 bales of cotton. The total loss was about $15,000, fully covered by insurance. It is not known how the fire started. It had reached a good headway when the firemen arrived. They found it hard to get to the blaze and the flames spread rapidly. However, the fire was confined to the warehouse and did not reach any of the adjoining buildings.

The cotton was valued at $6,000, the hay and clover at $1,750 and the damage to the building was about $15,000.

Engine Smashes Negro.

Thomasville, Ga., September 26.—Special.)—While prowling around in the freight yard of the Atlantic Coast Line railroad late Saturday night, "Colonel" Davis," a negro man of this city, had one leg cut off and the other badly mashed by a switch engine.

EDUCATION BOARD READY FOR WORK

Three Rural School Supervisors and Auditor Are Selected.

With the election of three rural school supervisors and a state school auditor and the discussion of plans for reorganizing the school system of the state, the new state board of education, authorized by act of the last legislature, met in the office of State School Superintendent M. L. Brittain yesterday and perfected organization.

All the members of the new board were present as follows: Governor Hoke Smith, Superintendent Brittain, Judge Thomas G. Lawson, Professor J. T. Langston, Professor Jere M. Pound and Professor T. J. Woofter.

Immediately after the board convened Judge Lawson was elected vice chairman of the board, Governor Smith serving in the capacity of ex-officio chairman.

On recommendation of the state school superintendent, C. C. Buchanan, of Waycross, president of the South Georgia Auditing Company, was elected auditor at a salary of $2,000 a year and expenses.

This position was created by the last general assembly and the auditor has the duty of examining the accounts of all school systems, county, city and collegiate, which receive state funds for education. This is the first time there has been such an official. He is to begin work as soon as possible under the direction of the state superintendent.

Three school supervisors were appointed as follows: Miss Celeste Parrish, long identified with the teacher training work at the State Normal school; Professor M. L. Duggan, county superintendent of schools of Hancock county; Professor F. E. Land, superintendent of the Dawson schools. The work of these three officials is to look after teachers' institutes and aid the state superintendent in more closely supervising school conditions in the various counties of the state.

It was decided that section 21 of the new law, requiring those teachers in local systems who have never stood examination and received licenses to qualify should not be strictly enforced until the close of the present year's work.

Professor Woofter and Superintendent Brittain were appointed a committee to arrange for an examination and system of certification and report as soon as practicable to the board.

The board decided to take up at once the reorganization of the school system of the state as provided for under the new law and will push it to completion as rapidly as possible. The board will hold another meeting some time in November, when a course of study for all common schools and high schools of the state receiving state aid will be outlined. They will probably select and make out a list of textbooks to be used.

BARNUM & BAILEY CIRCUS TO BE HERE SOON

Great Show Aggregation Said to Be Larger and Better Than Ever.

Final arrangements have just been completed for the visit to this city of the Barnum & Bailey greatest show on earth. The date is October 9. Two performances will be given. They will be the same in every particular as those presented in Madison Square Garden, New York city, where this circus opened its season last March.

Added glory attaches to this show because of its new equipment, which cost the management $3,500,000. Its new parade is described as a marvel of pageantry. Its enlarged menagerie is the center of interest, and the company of 400 world-famous artists presenting the program have brought 100 surprises from Europe. This circus is over fifty years old. It was foumded by P. T. Barnum, the father of modern advertising and big circus ideas. Barnum was born 100 years ago. He was over a century ahead of his time. Were he alive today he would still be looked up to as the greatest amusement manager in the world. It was his brilliant mind that made the modern circus possible. He found the circus a disorganized institution, operated without system, intelligence and not a great deal of integrity. He lifted it up into the fine arts. He established it on the same systematic standards that make railroads a success. When he died his only successors were James A. Bailey and his immediate staff of associates, then young men, who were able to perpetuate his wonderful policy because of long schooling under him.

Bailey has been described as the greatest showman of his day. He grew to be another Barnum. Under his management the world's greatest circus became even greater. No other circus in the world ever dared to attempt the gigantic projects that this genius carried through to success. He took the great show to Europe and Asia. He visited every city of prominence in the old world. Like a rolling ball of snow, it gathered and grew. On its return to America it was a world's fair of ten thousand wonders. Today it has reached a point of size that taxes the railroads to their utmost. It covers fourteen acres of ground.

The organization of this year numbers 1,280 people, 700 horses, 40 elephants, thirty camels and 1,200 wild and semi-domestic animals. It travels on a train exactly 6,123 feet in length. This is over one mile. The train has to be handled in five sections. The circus performance is introduced by a new and costly spectacle. The 108 acts that follow begin a new era in circus ideas. All is novelty. Charlie the First, a chimpanzee, walks to one of the stages and there presents a bicycle and juggling act surpassing in skill the efforts of the best human performer that ever lived. A company of beautiful cream stallions, enter the ring, walking on their hind feet. At a signal from their director they line up and play real music on sweet-toned bells. Jupiter, a white Arabian horse, rides to the dome of the tent in a balloon and comes down in a shower of fireworks.

Thrills are added to the performance by the Konyot family of equestrians, the Siegrist-Silbon family of aerialists and Georgetty family of acrobats.

CHILD FELL IN WELL.

Young Girl May Not Recover From Experience.

Thomasville, Ga., September 26.—(Special.)—As the result of a fall into a 30-foot well, the 5-year-old daughter of Trevor Carlton, of the Fredonia neighborhood, in this county, may die.

The little brother of the child Sunday afternoon was drawing a bucket of water from the well when, running up to him, she placed her hands on the chain holding the bucket. He moved his hands as she did so and the bucket jerked up with her holding it and she fell into the well.

The mother of the child ran at once to the well, but was unable to do anything and sent her son to the field for her husband. When he arrived and could get down into the well the child had sunk to the bottom and when taken out was apparently dead. After hard work, however, it was rescustated, but a severe blow on the head from the terra cotta curbing as it fell may cause its death.

LITTLE JOE'S CARD BRINGS ACTIVITY

Other Candidates Announce Managers and Headquarters.

J. B. Nevin, of Rome, to Be in Charge for Russell, and L. V. Williams, of Waycross, for J. Pope Brown--Jos. M. Brown's Friends Beginning Work.

Managers for two of the gubernatorial candidates were announced yesterday. J. B. Nevin, of Rome, will take charge of Judge Russell's contest, and L. Volney Williams, of Waycross, will look after the interests of J. Pope Brown. Headquarters for each candidate will begin operations soon.

Judge Russell's friends began moving their paraphernalia into their Kimball House quarters Tuesday. They are on the second floor, being the rooms on the corner of Pryor and Wall streets, the same that were used by Governor Joseph M. Brown during both of his former races.

Pope Brown will open headquarters at the Aragon within the next few days. Messrs. Nevin and Williams wil be in Atlanta during the activities of the campaign and will give personal attention to the political affairs of their respective candidates.

Mr. Nevin is a well-known newspaper man, now connected with The Rome Tribune-Herald. He is a native Georgian and has been prominent in the newspaper and political life of the state for many years. During the last two campaigns for governor he was in Washington, holding an editorial position on The Washington Herald, and took no part.

Mr. Williams is a newspaper man and lawyer. In addition to the practice of his profession, he edits The Waycross Journal, which has been one of the staunchest Hoke Smith papers in Georgia.

Trying to Stir Up Interest.

Both candidates expect the opening of formal headquarters to put life into what have been rather lethargic campaign so far.

It is said that the announcement of Governor Joseph M. Brown that he would be in the race accounts for the unusual activity now in evidence in the camps of the other candidates.

Governor Brown's announcement brought forth activity in his behalf in all parts of the state, though he has not undertaken any active campaigning and probably will undertake none for several weeks at least. He is at his farm in Cherokee county, his private affairs requiring the bulk of his attention for the time being.

There is considerable interest among the other candidates and their leaders regarding the platform that will be put forth by Governor Brown. While he has given no indication of what he will advocate in his opening address to the people, several papers are declaring that he has "straddled" the prohibition question. Just what position he will take on this issue, not even his close friends know. However, in his first announcement for governor he held that it was a matter which the people should decide for themselves. Later the issue was removed from the campaign by the agreement of all those concerned.

As an individual in local option elections, Governor Brown has always voted the prohibition ticket. In the great campaign in Atlanta more than twenty years ago, when his father, Joseph E. Brown, was one of the leaders in the fight for the compromise arrangement which displaced the prohibition regime adopted two years earlier, the governor voted with the anti-saloon faction.

Laws Should Be Enforced or Repealed.

However, this does not mean that he is a state-wide prohibitionist. In his last message to the legislature, he declared that the state should carry on its statute books no laws that are treated with contempt; if enforceable they should be enforced, or otherwise repealed, and others adopted that could be enforced. This was a part of a general appeal for the upholding of law and the furtherance of respect for government.

It is probable that Governor Brown's friends will hold a conference the latter part of the week for the purpose of mapping out the preliminary work of the contest.

Meantime, his friends over the state are preparing to organize and get into the campaign actively.

TRIES SUICIDE ON MACON TRACKS

Unknown Objects to Being Removed From Trolley Tracks by Motorman.

Macon, Ga., September 26.—(Special.) An unknown man deliberately and strenuously tried to commit suicide this morning in front of the Log Cabin Club by laying his head on the Bellevue line tracks in front of an approaching car. The mortorman stopped within 2 feet of the prostrate man and rushed out to remove him from the track

However, the man clung tenaciously to the rails and insisted that the motorman go back, and start the car. When they refused, of course, he rose and rushed off into a field. The motorman was B. J. Jackson, the conductor C. P. Wilcox, and the car No. 90.

Chaingang for Hoboes.

Macon, Ga., September 26.—(Special.) Having rid the city of scores of loiterers by sending them to the chaingang, the police department is daily augmenting the street improvement force by catching the "wandering Willies" in the dragnet In two days exactly fifteen of the genus hobo have been caught here and sentenced to thirty days on the chaingang. Heretofore these gentlemen have been allowed to go their way undisturbed, but now they will be detained here as guests of the city. Some of them rather like the idea of getting three certain meals and a soft bed at night.

$40,000 for Mercer.

Macon, Ga., September 26.—(Special.) The Baptists of the city held a largely attended meeting at the First Baptist church tonight, when plans were perfected for the mass meeting of Friday night, at which an effort will be made to raise by subscription the sum of $40,000 for Mercer university.

Petition for Tom Jones.

Macon, Ga., September 26.—(Special.) A petition asking the prison commissioners to recommend a pardon or commutation of sentence for Tom Jones, who was convicted of killing Sergeant of Police Wiley D. Bishop, and who is now serving a life sentence, is being circulated about the city. Jones was city detective of this city.

W. H. Jones Dies.

Macon, Ga., September 26.—(Special.) W. H. Jones, 54 years of age, died at his home, 103 Stratton street, last night after a brief illness. He leaves six sons and four daughters. He had been employed for years at a local lumber plant. The body was sent this afternoon to Culloden, his former home, for funeral and interment.

ALBANY TIGERS ARE DISCOVERED

Rev. Tyson Wants to Know About Those Forfeited Bonds.

Albany, Ga., September 26.—(Special.)—The discovery that in July last twenty-five alleged blind tigers operating in Albany were charged in police court with violating the prohibition law, that they were required to give cash bonds of $100 each, and that these bonds were later forfeited as fines for "contempt of court," the $2,500 being turned into the city treasury, has created a sensation in municipal circles.

Rev. I. P. Tyson, pastor of the Methodist church, was the "discoverer" of the $2,500 incident, and he published a card giving the results of his investigation.

This aroused the resentment of Mayor N. F. Tift, who in a published statement denied that there had been any secrecy about the matter.

FORTY-ONE DAYS FROM FLORIDA

Took Business Letter That Long to Travel From Daytona to Atlanta.

As evidenced by the anything but rapid transit of a valuable letter, which unfortunately came through the mails, Daytona, Fla., is some little distance from Atlanta. This piece of mail in question required a period of forty-one days to come from the Florida town to this city.

Daytona, Fla., isn't such a long way from Atlanta. However, a letter of great commercial value, sent by a citizen of that place to Dr. James McMullen, of this city, was about six weeks in reaching its destination. The address was plainly typewritten and when received here the letter bore no marks of having been missent or given a wrong party.

Dr. McMullen says he received the letter on September 22. It was received in the local postoffice on the 21st and was mailed in Daytona, Fla., August 11. He also states that he has often encountered trouble in business affairs by the delay of important mail, which often resulted seriously.

POULTRY MEN GUESTS AT OLD-TIME BARBECUE

Secretary Thomas M. Poole Has Issued the Invitations.

All members of the Southern International Poultry Association have been invited by Secretary Thomas M. Poole to attend a barbecue to be given by him Friday afternoon at the Rose Valley Poultry Farm.

An excellent program has been arranged for the 'cue, and includes a number of interesting talks relative to the raising and maintaining of poultry.

L. T. HARDY ACQUITTED OF MURDERING STEGALL

L. T. Hardy, who was on trial for murdering Will Stegall in a Marietta saloon several months ago, was acquitted yesterday afternoon, the jury being out but a few minutes.

Immediately after the acquittal of Hardy the case of W. M. Matthews, the motorman charged with the murder of one of a crowd of boys who were jeering and hooting him while he was on his car, was taken up. The trial will probably consume all Wednesday.

LATEST REPORTS FROM ALL THE MARKETS

COTTON CLOSED FIRM AND HIGHER

But During the Afternoon the Market Made New Low Records.

New York, September 26.—There was a continued active business in the cotton market, and, while prices again made new low records during the early afternoon, demand was a little more general and the close was firm at a net advance of 3@12 points.

The market opened steady at a decline of 3 points on October, but generally 1 to 6 points higher, in response to better cables than looked for, less favorable crop accounts, covering of shorts and buying by trade interests. Shortly after the opening, October sold up to a net advance of 3 or 4 points, while later months worked some 10 to 11 points above the closing figures of yesterday, and it looked as if the talk of an increased trade demand was teaching many recent sellers to cover their cotton and take the long side in expectation of a good rally before the publication of the government crop report on October 2. The demand, however, was readily supplied on the improvement on 10 or 12 points from the lowest, and the market weakened during the middle of the day under continued southern selling, reports of lower southern spot markets, liquidation by early buyers and renewal of local bear pressure.

Stop-loss orders were uncovered on a scaledown, and for a time the market acted almost as weak and demoralized as at any time since the big break started, but around 10.03 for October and 10.21 for December, or 10 to 15 points under the closing figures of yesterday, demand became more active and the market rallied quite sharply from the lowest in the last trading, on bull support and covering by local shorts. September was bid up to 10.30 during the afternoon or 12 points net higher when belated shorts attempted to do a little covering, but that position closed at 10.24 or about 6 points off from the best.

There were, if anything, fewer reports from the interior of the south regarding the spot situation than yesterday, but several wires were received during the day, reporting a continued heavy movement and free offerings, and southern spot markets as officially reported were about unchanged to ¼ lower.

Weather advices were favorable, but private crop accounts, particularly from Mississippi and Louisiana, were less encouraging and the reports that foreign mills were calling cotton freely probably inspired much of the covering.

Receipts today 84,247 bales, against 63,976 last week and 83,882 last year. Today's receipts at New Orleans 4,543, against 6,338 last year, and at Houston 11,707, against 24,915 last year.

New Orleans Cotton.

New Orleans, September 26.—Spot cotton, steady, 1-16 off; middling, 10 9-16; sales on the spot, 775 bales; to arrive, 3,950; low ordinary, 7¼, nominal; ordinary, 7 15-16, nominal; good ordinary, 9¾; strict good ordinary, 9¾; low middling, 10 1-16; strict low middling, 10 5-16; middling, 10 9-16; strict middling, 10 11-16; good middling, 10 13-16; strict good middling, 11; middling fair, 11 5-16; middling fair to fair, 11 11-16; fair, 12 1-16, nominal; receipts, 4,543; stock, 32,818.

Cotton futures opened steady at an advance of 2 to 3 points. Cables were none too good, but shorts were heavy buyers to realize profits. After the call, the buying increased and although leading bears offered a great deal of cotton the inquiry was sufficient to absorb everything for sale and to keep the market advancing. Lighter receipts at Texas points, and the fear that labor troubles would interfere with the movement of cotton to this market, helped to put prices up.

At the end of the first half hour of business, the trading months were 6 to 7 points over yesterday's close.

The market had a fairly good tone up to the middle of the morning, when it stood 11 to 12 points over yesterday's close. Here a report was received to the effect that an important foreign bank had suspended payment and bears immediately attacked the market with redoubled energy. The weekly weather reports from the weather bureau were more favorable than expected and revived hope in a bearish condition report fro mthe government. The market quickly broke 20 to 21 points and at noon was 8 to 10 points under yesterday's close.

In the afternoon session, the market was steady on buying by prominent bull interests, which began when prices were 12 to 13 points under yesterday's close. The market was forced up until at 2 o'clock prices were 5 to 6 points over yesterday's close.

The market closed steady at a net advance of 4 to 8 points.

Dry Goods.

New York, September 26.—The cotton goods markets are moderately steady under the influence of orders placed to meet the needs. Yarns are in better request. October bills are discounted and the credit conditions are called satisfactory.

Bradstreet's Available Supplies

New York, September 26.—Special cable and telegraphic communications received by Bradstreets' show the following changes in available supplies as compared with previous accounts:

Wheat, United States, east of Rockies, increased 27,000 bushels. Canada increased 1,661,000. Afloat for and in Europe 1,634,000. Total United States and Canada increased 3,700,000. Total American and European supplies increased 5,361,000.

Corn, United States and Canada, decreased 402,00.

Oats, United States and Canada, increased 641,000.

Among the leading decreases reported are: Louisville, 153,000 bushels; Nashville, 139.

STOCKS STRONGER IN THE LAST HOUR

Sharp Break Occurred in Early Trading, But the Market Soon Reacted.

New York, September 26.—Trading in stocks was less turbulent today and changes were less violent than during yesterday's upheaval. The tone of the market was distinctly stronger. A sharp break occurred in the early trading and for a time it appeared as though another breathless plunge downward was imminent. But the market soon reacted and during the remainder of the day ruled well above the low point.

It was apparent at all times that the demand was considerably enlarged. The change was pronounced during the last hour, when the market rose rapidly under the influence of spirited bidding. United States Steel was 1½ points above yesterday's close, and ended the day with a net gain of a point. The preferred gained 1¾ on the day. Reading, Lehigh Valley, Canadian Pacific and American Smelting closed a point or more higher and the Harriman issues nearly as much.

Attorney General Wickersham's statement of the government's attitude regarding the enforcement of the Sherman law did little to clear the situation. Wall street had hoped for definite information as to what was in store for the United States Steel Corporation, and expressed some disappointment because the attorney general was unable to disclose his intentions. The deduction was drawn in some quarters that the tenor of the statement indicated that a dissolution suit was to be filed and the early break was ascribed largely to selling based on this theory.

Speculative sentiment was undoubtedly helped by the general belief that a satisfactory plan had been agreed upon for dissolution of the American Tobacco Company. It was argued that if it had been found possible to dissolve this huge corporation on terms upon which its active heads found it possible to agree with the officials of the government, similar results might be expected in the cases of other corporations should their dissolution be required.

Atchison's statement showing a decrease in net earnings of $671,000 was a much poorer showing than had been expected. The stock sold down a point on publication of the report, but subsequently recovered.

Dealings in bonds were enormous. The total, which exceeded $7,500,000, was by far the largest of the year. Transactions in the American Tobacco bonds made up a large part of this total, reaching $5,561,000. The 6 per cent bonds rose 3⅝, the 4s 2⅝ and and the preferred stock 1⅛. The general bond market was firm. The total sales, par value, were $7,517,000. United States bonds unchanged on call.

Cotton Seed Oil.

New York, September 26.—The cotton seed oil market was easier under selling against more liberal offerings of crude oil from the south and in sympathy with lard, closing at 8 to 27 points net lower.

WHEAT ADVANCED; CORN AND OATS UP

Figures of World's Supply of Wheat Caused Advance in That Cereal.

Chicago, September 26.—Bullish comparisons regarding the world's available supply of wheat brought about a rally today in the market for that cereal. The close was at a net advance of ⅛ to ½. Corn and oats showed also a final gain—corn ⅛ to ⅜@½, and oats ¼@⅜ to ½. In provisions the outcome was ⅝ to 10c decline.

Although the exhibit as to the world supply of wheat was one more of appearance than reality, the effect in the trading pit turned out to be decidedly uncomfortable for the bears. Ostensibly, the total for the week made out an increase of only 5,300,000 bushels, as against an increase of 2,500,000 bushels at the corresponding time a year ago. The misleading element was the current week's figures, owing to a new system of revision, included the Danube wheat stocks, a circumstance which was not the case twelve months back. Between the two methods of compiling, there was, seemingly, but not, as a matter of fact, a difference of 12,500,000 bushels. Notwithstanding the defectiveness of the total, the market, which was in an oversold condition, swing sharply upward, more than overcoming an early decline, due to weak cables and to large receipts northwest. Some improvement in the cash trade helped give a steady tone at the close. During the session December ranged from 98¼ to 99⅛, and the end was 98¾, a net gain of ⅛ cent.

Corn in shock molding to an unusual extent had considerable to do with causing firmness in prices for that grain. Cash houses were good buyers. December fluctuated between 63½ and 64⅛, closing steady ⅛@¼ up at 63⅞@64. Spot demand was good. No. 2 yellow finished at 63½@63¾.

Oats displayed not a little independent strength. There was plenty of buying on the part of houses with country clientage, a state of affairs which led to purchases for local speculators. High and low levels touched by December were 47⅝@47¾ and 47, with the close at 47⅜@47½, just ¼@⅜ net advance.

A big run of hogs at western centers kicked out the support from under the provision market. When trading ceased, pork had dropped 7½@10c, lard 5@10c, and ribs 5 to 7½.

WEATHER BUREAU
WILLIS L. MOORE, Chief.

Observations taken at 8 p. m., seventy-fifth meridian time. ISOBARS, or continuous lines, pass through points of equal air pressure. ISOTHERMS, or dotted lines, pass through points of equal temperature; they will be drawn only for zero, freezing, 90°, and 100°. SYMBOLS indicate state of weather: ○ clear; ◐ partly cloudy; ● cloudy; Ⓡ rain; Ⓢ snow; Ⓜ report missing. Arrows fly with the wind. First figure, highest temperature for past 12 hours; second, 24-hour rainfall, if it equals .01 inch; third, wind velocity if 10 miles per hour or more.

SYNOPSIS—An area of low barometric pressure central over northern Minnesota occupies the Missouri valley and Great Plains and extends over the Rocky mountain states, attended by cloudy weather and moderately high temperatures. East of the Mississippi river the weather is clear. Showers have occurred along the Atlantic seaboard northward from Hatteras, and also in the Florida peninsula—Tampa reporting 2.18 inches.

SUPPLY AND DISTRIBUTION

Interesting Cotton Statistics Given by Census Bureau.

Washington, September 26.—There was an increase of more than 12 per cent in the supply of raw cotton in the United States during the cotton year, which ended August 31, 1911, according to the census bureau's preliminary report on the supply and distribution of cotton issued today. The supply amounted to 13,655,479 bales, compared with 12,188,021 bales for the previous year, when there was a decrease of 20 per cent from that available in 1909.

Notwithstanding the increase in the total supply the consumption of cotton in the United States showed a decrease of slightly more than 2 per cent over last year, and was the smallest consumption during the past three years, it being 4,696,316 bales.

It was said semi-officially that the high price of raw cotton during the year was principally the cause for the decreased consumption. This consumption during the year was larger in the cotton growing states than the previous year, while in all other states it was smaller.

During the cotton year the exports were 22 per cent greater than in 1910, the amount being 7,718,414 bales, compared with 6,339,028 bales a year ago. This year was the fourth largest in the history of the export trade.

The net imports included more than 52 per cent, the total amount, 231,191 bales, being greater than any year in the history of the industry.

The supply and distribution of cotton in the United States in running bales, including linters for the cotton year which ended August 31, 1911, with comparisons for previous years, were announced today by the director of the census, E. Dana Durand, as follows:

| Supply: | 1911. | 1910. |
|---|---|---|
| Total | 13,655,479 | 12,188,021 |

| Destroyed by fire | ........ | 10,000 |
| Stocks at the end of year | 1,177,749 | 1,040,000 |

In the United States 4,369,316 bales, compared with 4,798,953 bales last year 5,240,719 bales in 1909 and 4,539,000 bales in 1908.

In cotton growing states 2,328,265 bales compared with 2,292,333 bales last year, 2,533,797 bales in 1909 and 2,187,096 bales in 1908.

In all other states, 2,368,051 bales, compared with 2,506,620 bales last year, 2,686,922 bales in 1909, and 2,351,994 bales in 1908.

Stocks held August 31:

In the United States, 1,177,749 bales, compared with 1,040,000 bales last year, 1,482,585 bales in 1909 and 1,236,058 bales in 1908.

By manufacturers, 523,441 bales, compared with 533,232 bales last year, 907,097 bales in 1909, and 594,184 bales in 1908. By manufacturers in cotton growing states, 100,639 bales, compared with 121,349 bales last year, 186,393 bales in 1909, and 112,471 bales in 1908. By manufacturers in all other states, 422,811 bales, compared with 411,883 bales last year, 720,704 bales in 1909, and 481,713 bales in 1908.

In independent warehouses, 431,401 bales, compared with 306,808 bales last year, 325,000 bales in 1909, and 444,626 bales in 1908. In independent warehouses in cotton growing states, 347,626 bales, compared with 155,871 bales last year, 242,747 bales in 1909, and 262,584 bales in 1908. In independent warehouses in all other states, 83,576 bales, compared with 150,937 bales last year, 82,352 bales in 1909, and 82,042 bales in 1908.

By other holders, 222,907 bales, compared with 200,000 bales last year, 251,389 bales in 1909, and 197,248 bales in 1908.

Cotton spindles operated:

In the United States, 28,871,849 bales, compared with 29,188,945 for the year ending December 31, 1909, which included spindles consuming cotton mixed with other fibers, 28,018,305 for the year ending August 31, 1909, and 27,505,422 in 1908.

In cotton growing states, 10,877,547, compared with 10,801,494 in 1910, 10,429,200 in 1909, and 10,200,903 in 1908.

CHAPTER X.

Now let me tell you what is usually the result of mating with females rather dark of plumage, as frequently seen: The darks predominate, and dark and light bars run together, giving a smutty look to the plumage. It is often found on wings and tails of females with body color, but such specimens lose heavily when in the hands of competent judges. Then there are others, bred to secure very light color, and by some breeders this has been sought for to such an extent as to lose all regard for the under-color, just so they could get the surface color. But what is the result? You find the under-color on a big per cent of such fowls white, and with white in wings and tail. To follow up such matings they soon run out, especially in the male.

The Plymouth Rocks were produced in 1849 by Mr. J. C. Bennett, of Plymouth, Mass. They were made by crossing an imported Cochin China cockerel on a hen a cross between a light Dorking, the Great Malay and the wild India. So the Plymouth Rocks have in their composition a mixture Shanghai, Malay, Game, Turkish and India. Half Cochin in the male is half the mixture. The Plymouth Rocks of that early date are not to be compared with this beautiful breed of today. Then their plumage was rich and variegated, the cockerels usually red speckled, and the pullets darkish brown. Their legs were very large and usually blue or green, but occasionally yellow or white, generally having five toes upon each foot, and some had feathers on their legs. They had large single combs, short tails and small wings.

You see from this what the Plymouth Rock was in the days gone by; in short they were mixed and resembled nothing in particular; some had blue, green, white or yellow legs; some had feathered legs; still they were an excellent general purpose fowl, large, early layers, etc. We would not think much of a man's Plymouth Rocks if he were to show us such specimens now. The standard disqualifications for Barred Rocks in the show room are not matching, feathered legs, color of legs other than yellow (which does not, however, include clouded scales or those spotted with blue or black), enamel white in ear lobes, lopped combs, crooked backs, wry tails, crossed or twisted beaks, splashes of white or black in the plumage (except in wing primaries and tails), red or brassy feathers in any part of the plumage, or twisted feathers in wings or tails. The points are 100, divided as follows: Symmetry 8, weight 6, condition 4, head, shape 3, color 3-6, comb 8, ear lobes and wattles—shape 2, color, 4-6; neck, shape, 3, color 6-9; back, shape, 6, color 6-12; breast, shape, 5, color 5-10; body and fluff, shape, 3, color 3-6; wings, shape, 4, color 5-9; legs and toes, shape, 3, color 3-6.

In the case of Plymouth Rocks feathering on the legs or between the toes, as a sure indication of inpurity. The impression prevails that specimens that are disqualified in the show rooms are not pure bred. There are many disqualifications that impurity has nothing to do with. Among these are lop combs, in Spanish, "combs so large as to obstruct the sight in front" on Hamburgs; entire absence of wing bars on some birds; white feathers in Langshans, Black Spanish, Polish, etc., and many other things. These points are show points, and each breed to insure purity and a high quality must possess them. The more standard points which the specimen possesses the more valuable they are for exhibition purposes. The specimens that are just a "little off" in these standard requirements will lay just as many eggs, and often more in a given time, than the more perfect ones. Many of the pure bred varieties are exhibited singly, in pairs or trios in the shows, and though they may receive the highest awards, will not yield the same finely-marked progeny. People who buy the first premium trio of any parti-colored breeds expecting they will be able to raise the same high scoring specimens may meet with disappointment. Why is this so? Because the standard requires specimens that a single mating can not produce. It is therefore, necessary to have two matings to produce a standard male and female. This applies to parti-colored fowls. With all solid colored breeds one mating produces both sexes with standard requirements.

Some Acreage---Ready for Subdivision

We have a tract of 15 acres on the corner of the Howell Mill road and the DeFoor Ferry road that is splendidly adapted for subdivision. It fronts 528 feet on the Howell Mill and about 675 feet on the DeFoor Ferry road. Is all elevated above the road, and contains some beautiful building lots.

The Georgia Railway and Electric Company has already announced its intention of extending its line by this property and on out to the beautiful home of Colonel Felder. This tract can be subdivided and sold out so as to double your money in one year. There is practically no grading necessary. About all the expense necessary is having it platted into lots. The streets are already there. Now, get busy and let's do some business on this at once. We have a close price on it for a quick turn.

SUTHERLAND TERRACE

This subdivision gets its name from the historic home place of the late General John B. Gordon, which is located on the property. Situated in Kirkwood on the North Decatur car line within 17 minutes of the center of the city. Kirkwood has one of the most complete water and sewer systems of any city in the country, the water being supplied by an artesian well and is abundant, pure and cool; has a fine system of public schools, using the same curriculum as the Atlanta schools; good churches, and is a desirable home-owning community. We are selling lots, with all improvements down, on terms, or we will build a modern home to suit the purchaser's taste and convenience in the matter of payments. Always a pleasure to show our properties.

We have completed two beautiful homes, modern in every particular, and have in course of construction two more which we would be glad to have inspected by any one interested in a home.

DISPENSARY SCANDAL TRIED IN COLUMBIA

State Officers Alleged to Have Received Graft Amounting to $22,000.

Columbia, S. C., September 26.—L. W. Boykin and John Bell Towill, former members of the state liquor dispensary board; W. O. Tatum, former commissioner of the dispensary; K. A. Goodman, a liquor salesman, and Dennis Weiskopf, a Cincinnati business man, were placed on trial here today on a charge of conspiring to defraud the state.

The case is what is known as the dispensary scandal, and has been on the docket several years.

It is alleged that Boykin, Towill and Tatum, as members of the dispensary board, through Goodman and Weiskopf, purchased from a Cincinnati concern $35,000 worth of labels for whisky bottles, and that $22,000 of this amount was returned to the state officers as "graft."

The supply of labels bought in 1905 was enough to last the state ten years. The dispensary was abolished in 1907.

Tablet to Stonewall Jackson.

Clarksburg, W. Va., September 26.—A bronze tablet, marking the birthplace of the late confederate general, Stonewall Jackson, was unveiled here today. Dr. James Power Smith, only surviving officer of General Jackson's staff, made dedicatory address.

Hubbard Bros. & Co.

New York, September 26.—Liverpool took all of the southern offerings this morning, which were below a parity with the closing quotations of this market, looking for a recovery after so sharp a decline to a level which enabled the mills to secure the lowest raw material for several years. This strength abroad brought buying orders, causing an advance of some 10 points, which was met by a flood of southern hedge selling under which a quick decline of some 20 points followed. Then again some buying for arbitrage account brought about a recovery to the quotations of last evening. Whenever the spinning demand exceeds the offerings from the south, this decline will be arrested, as the moderate investment demand is not sufficient alone to absorb the surplus hedge selling.

In the last half hour, heavy buying by Wall street brokers caused a recovery of the last decline and the close was steady at 8 to 10 points advance. Southern markets are lower, but Liverpool should be 1 to 2 points better on our close.

CHARTER FAVORED BY WESTMORELAND

a question which ought to address itself to measures, not men. The personnel of each citizen ought to give way when a momentous question like this addresses itself to the sober thoughts of the voter.

"It is the present and contemplated plans of administering the city government to the best interests of all the people. It is not a question of contest between the rich and the poor—the rich advocating the new charter to oppress the poor; both have equal interests and their interests are the same. It is a question of the moral, intellectual and financial betterment of the whole community.

Charter Like Crazy Quilt.

It must be conceded by both sides that vital changes in our city government are imperatively demanded. The old, patched-up charter that we are now operating under has been amended so many times that it is like a crazy quilt. The truth is, that it is like a garment that the boy has outgrown; it cannot be enlarged, but calls for a new one. When Atlanta was a small place the councilmen and aldermen could have actual supervision of its streets and police service, but now we have many new streets, waterworks, electric lights, etc., which not only call for constant attention, but expert knowledge of the things in hand, and it is nigh impossible for the council to give it that intelligent attention which the various departments demand.

This was realized years ago, from time to time, and hence the establishment of the various boards and the city has continued to grow until these boards, which are composed of some of the best citizens, without any compensation, are no longer equal to the exigencies of the situation, and then it must be admitted by those who have kept any track of the history of these boards that their inefficiency has been crippled by the introduction of politics and favoritism to friends.

Factions Have Hurt Boards.

The police board especially was for years divided into factions, so was the water board, the latter so much so that one of the best men, in my judgment, who was on this board, was ousted from it. I refer to Judge George Hillyer. He will remember the fight that he and I, as assistant attorney, made to try to recoup the damage the city had sustained in the purchase of water pipe by the water board from a trust syndicate. Nobody ever knew or could know how much the city lost.

The Grady hospital board has been rent in twain several times to its great detriment, and so with the board of health and to a lesser degree the board of education. All these board members were men who had their private business to attend to, and necessarily could not give much of their time and best talent to their public work.

And, again, I think it must be admitted that some of them were not properly equipped from knowledge or experience with the problems that confronted them, and as the city has grown these problems have not only increased in number, but in complication, and the efficiency of the board members has not been kept up to the standard. Too much politics and too little capacity for the work in hand. These are plain statements, but I believe them to be true and they are stated by one who is not a stranger to the present system and its administration.

People Had No Voice.

The people have had no voice in the selection of these boards. Members, some of them no doubt, were selected for the political pull on election days. This is not a criticism of the manner in which this is done; it's more than natural that such should be the case, but the criticism is on the system that tolerates it.

This thing, as seen in the council, has been enlarged as the city grew, hoping this would supply the remedy, but it has been found that enlarging the council divided the responsibility and added to the responsibility. It is no answer to say that the city has grown under this form of government. It might with propriety be said that the city has grown in spite of it.

The truth is that the growth of Atlanta has always been one of the marvels of this commercial world. The council has had nothing to do with the erection of tall buildings, until Atlanta today has more floor space in its tall buildings than any city south of New York.

This condition of affairs became so convincing and transparent that the present council saw it and acted in view of it by preparing what they called a new charter for Atlanta, and asked the legislative representatives to pass it. In this new charter the council was to be cut in half, leaving ten councilmen and five aldermen, and this was to be submitted to the vote of the people. Of course, the council was in favor of it or it would have not have asked for it to be passed. This was met by the commission charter people with a request that the council ask the legislature to pass it and it contained a promise that the whole thing be submitted to the people. This the council refused to do and the fight was brought to the legislature, but the members from Fulton would not introduce the commission charter until 20 per cent of the voters requested it, which was done, and it was also introduced. Then came the effort to reconcile the conflicting contestants in in order to have peace and it was thought by some that there would be no fight, but it seems we opened a "Randora's box."

No Necessity for Fight.

I cannot, for the life of me, see the necessity of this fight. Of course the new charter is not perfect—nothing that man ever made is perfect, but it like the old one, can be amended as the use of it demonstrates it advisable. It is not born grown, like Adam was, but the people are its creators and can hereafter hold it to fit the exigencies of the city as it grows.

I have no harsh language for those who disagree wtih me. Many of them are my long personal friends and to whose judgment I would ordinarily defer, but I can but believe that many of them have been goaded into making this fight because they conceived the idea that their personal integrity was being impugned, and, while I do not blame them for defending themselves, I do not think that in the fight in their own defense they should lose their tempers and impugn the intelligence and motives of others and thus to "lose sight of the real issue before the people and say that the charter is a fraud, and that it raises the issue of "class against mass" prejudice.

Our mayor has been unjustly criticised. He wanted to quit but it was thought best for him to remain as he had made a good mayor, was familiar with the city's affairs and thoroughly capable and honest. Then it was thought best for the people who had elected him to know that they would not have to elect a new and untried mayor.

Objection is also urged to the mayor's increased salary. The people are fair, and if not misled, will act fair. The mayor now has very little voice in the government of the city, veto power, pardoning power and signing checks and contracts is about the extent of it, and that requires only a little of his time, and he gets $3,000 a year. He can attend to his ordinary business. The new charter takes all of his time and does not allow him to engage in anything else. Is it not fair to pay him for it?

Council an Important Body.

It is strange that fun should have been made by one of our daily papers about the council of ten. It is an important body, it levies the taxes, makes the laws and really supervises the board of administration. This is a good charter. The three branches of the government are kept separate; the council passes the laws, the recorder enforces them and the administration board looks after the business end of the city. They are all elected by and are amenable to the people. Any number of citizens can go to council and ask for the recall for any or all of the administrative boards, and by showing good grounds can have an election called for their recall. This is an admirable provision.

Of course, if, as some of the orators contend, all of the council and board are to be rascals, no relief can be had; but who can say that the people will elect such men? If they can be trusted to elect thirty good men to the council, as now constituted, surely they might be trusted to elect ten councilmen and five members of the administration board.

It is not true, as has been said by some of the orators, that the board will be inaccessible to the ordinary citizen; that he will have to approach the board on bended knees. This is political claptrap and unworthy the great subject discussed. For the foregoing reasons, I am going to vote for the new charter, with the firm conviction that it is a vast improvement on the present one, and believing that it is a good charter, and if need be can be amended from time to time. I feel sure that there will be saved to tais city by the business management provided for in this charter from $200,000 to $300,000 each year, and that after the people have given it a fair trial they would not return to the old system.

Thinking people, think twice before you vote against this charter.

GEORGE WESTMORELAND.

ADVERTISING TALKS.

THE MAHIN MESSENGER for September, and it is an ADVERTISING TRUTH WHICH CANNOT BE EMPHASIZED TOO FREQUENTLY.

I am glad to note that the Mahin Company make this statement, because they have placed and written copy for varying lines of business for many years, and THEY KNOW FROM ACTUAL EXPERIENCE THE KIND OF COPY THAT BRINGS THE BEST RESULTS TO THEIR CLIENTS.

Merchants and manufacturers are beginning to realize that PLAIN, STRAIGHTFORWARD STATEMENTS in their advertising copy WILL SELL MORE GOODS for them than exaggerated statements.

The reading public is intelligent enough to know that no merchant or manufacturer can dispose of his product without making a fair profit on it, if he wants to continue in business, and IT IS WILLING TO PAY THAT PROFIT IF THE ARTICLE IS RELIABLE.

The people are also intelligent enough to realize when a merchant or manufacturer does not live up to his promises, and once they are fooled, THEY WILL NOT PUT THEMSELVES IN THE POSITION OF BEING FOOLED AGAIN.

APPEAL TO THE PEOPLE'S INTELLIGENCE in your advertising—TELL THEM THE TRUTH, and nothing but the truth, about the goods you are offering, and you will build up a PROFITABLE BUSINESS on sound foundations.

HONESTY is the best policy, not only from a MORAL, BUT A BUSINESS STANDPOINT, and the business whose watchword is honesty and a SQUARE DEAL TO THE PUBLIC, whose ADVERTISING PROMISES ONLY THAT WHICH IT CAN PERFORM, will prosper from the beginning.

No. 5 Castleberry St.

A great many people want to get in the semi-central game (which is so profitable), but are shut out by high prices. Here is a place for only $3,750; it is just 70 feet from Forsyth St., and ties right up with a fine corner, dovetailing into a valuable block of property.

The old house should be fixed up a little to make a rent-paying investment, and then it would be a good place to keep awhile. It will not be long before anything in the neighborhood of Forsyth St. and Madison Ave. will sell high.
